HUGHES SPEAKS IN KALAMAZOO ARMORY

States Vote for Him Means Vote for Maintenance of American Rights

GREATLY FATIGUED

Asserts Federal Reserve Act Contain Defects Which Should Be Remedied

SPEAKS AT GRAND RAPIDS

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 18.—Charles E. Hughes told an audience in the armory here tonight that a vote for him, far from being a vote for war, meant a vote for the maintenance of American rights and that when Americans went abroad lawfully to further American enterprise they should go with the "backing of the American government."

The federal reserve bill, the nominee said, "giving credit where credit was due" was largely the result of the report of the Republican monetary commission and contained "defects which should be removed."

Mr. Hughes was greatly fatigued by the day of traveling which was broken only by stops at Niles and Dowagiac. He spoke for ten minutes at Niles and said a few words to the crowd at Dowagiac.

In his speech here the nominee said:

"I believe in government according to the intent of our constitutional system. I am opposed to abdicating official or moral authority on the demand of force, either of labor or of capital. I am opposed to every sort of influence which can change the proper current of our public affairs.

"I propose that in all that we do to settle the grave problems that will undoubtedly confront us, that we proceed in the American manner to judge facts, to ascertain what is true, and in the light of the facts to legslate and to execute in accordance with our best ability.

"I do not propose that laws shall be passed without inquiry at the demand of anyone. I do not propose that any mysterious influences shall brood over the lobbies of th ecapitol. I propose that we shall have government in the open in accordance with the principles of our institutions and that we put into effect the policies now needed to upbuild our prosperity and maintain our institutions."

Mr. Hughes replying to the declaration that a vote for him means a vote for war that that was a "most extraordinary way of attempting to fence."

"I grant you," he said, "that a vote for me does mean a vote for that maintenace of American rights but it s a great fallacy to suppose involves a surrender of the ideals of peace, or a disregard of the vast improvement of peace."

Mr. Hughes was presented by the Hughes-Fairbanks Club with a cane which, he was told, was made from a rail split by Abraham Lincoln and presented by Lincoln to D. S. Walbridge of Kalamazoo in 1856. In acknowledging the gift, Mr. Hughes said:

"I cannot think at this time of any benediction that can possibly fall upon the American people equal in importance to the benediction we have received from the memory of the gentle humanity of Lincoln. If ever there was a time when we needed the support of Lincoln in public life that time is now."

Large Crowd at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 18.—Charles T. Hughes reached Grand Rapids more fatigued than he had been at any time since he began campagning. He found the Coliseum filled to overflowing with an audience that had waited two hours.

The nominee outlined in detail his views on the protective tariff and the Adamson law.

Mr. Hughes said he was opposed to legislation "in response to force" for three reasons. These he summarized as follows:

"Frst, because labor has stood for collective bargaining; second, because labor has stood for the principle of arbitration of disputes; third, because such legislation seriously affects the stability of enterprise."

Mr. Hughes' program called for his departure early tomorrow for other points in Michigan and for Youngstown, Ohio, where he will deliver the last speech of his trip.

CHARGE MANSLAUGHTER

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 18—Indictments charging manslaughter were returned today in LaSalle county against R. A. Hummel, assistant superintendent of the German-American Cement company and his body guard Charles Foster of Chicago, accused of running down and killing Stany Wisian with Hummel's automobile during a strike riot at LaSalle last August. Bail was fixed at $10,000 each.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

CENTRALIA, Okla.—Four bandits entered this city in an automobile, held up the cashier of the First National Bank and escaped with between $5,000 and $8,000.

WASHINGTON—War's effect on railroad finances during the next few years was one of the principal subjects under discussion at the annual meeting of the Society of Railway financial officers here.

OTTUMWA, Ia.—Hobart Whitmore, 5 year old son of State Senator C. W. Whitmore narrowly escaped death when he fell between the wheels of a large delivery truck. The lad was playing in the yard and ran into the street after his dog.

TOLEDO, O.—The Warner Manufacturing Company's plant, a branch of the Willys-Overland Company, has passed out of existence, having been absorbed by the Chevrolet Motors Company.

PHILADELPHIA—Inaugurating a direct steamship service between this port and South America, the steamship Carolyn sailed from the municipal pier with a capacity cargo. The Carolyn will make her first stop at Rio Janeiro.

New York—The Royal mail steam packet company has cancelled all its sailings of steamers for an indefinite period. The reason for the cancellation is understood to be that the British government again has requisitioned the company's steamships.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—Jim Alie, who has been held as a suspect in connection with the murder of Alphonse Maragian, three years old, whose beheaded body was found last Friday has been released. The police are convinced that Alie is innocent.

CHICAGO—Still higher prices were predicted for ginghams and cotton goods, which already have gone from 6 1-4 before the war to 10 3-4cents a yard. The central cotton garment manufacturers met to discuss means of equalizing their profit in the face of the increasing prices.

PROSPECTS OF STRIKE SETTLEMENT IN VIEW

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 18.—Prospects of a settlement of the strike of Standard Oil workers which has been marked by battles between the strikers and special police with the loss of life, were in view tonight. The Standard Oil company was reported authoritatvely to be ready to consider favorably the demands of the men for higher wages, provided they would first return to work.

This became known after John A. Moffit and James A. Smyth, federal conciliation commissioners, had conferred with the Bayonne board of city commissioners and George B. Hennessy, superintendent of the Standard Oil plant. After their talk with Hennessy, the conciliators announced that "they had shown a conciliatory attitude and that they looked for an early adjustment of the difficulties."

PRINCESS WEDS DRUGGIST.

London, Oct. 18.—The Frankfurter Zeitung announces the marriage of Princess Marie Therese of Hohenole to Otto Kohleisen, of Innsbruck, an apothecary and descendant of an humble Austrian family. The princess nursed Kohleisen while he was in a hospital suffering from an illness contracted on the battlefield.

WOMAN'S SPECIAL REACHES LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 18.—The woman's Hughes campaign special train arrived here today and the campaigners immediately took their places in automobiles at the head of a parade which traversed the down town streets.

Triple the number of policemen usually assigned on such occasions were on hand at the request of the local Hughes Alliance committee. Thirty men were detailed as body guards fo the campaigners and four others assigned to the orders of Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago wh ois to make addresses tomorrow in the industrial district.

LOCATE LATE LIEUT. ADAIR'S SADDLE MARE

EL PASO Texas, Oct. 18.—A thoroughbred saddle mare which belonged to Lieut. Henry R. Adair of the Tenth U. S. Cavalry, who was killed during the fighting at Carrizal, Chihuahua, on June 21, was located in Juarez today and has been delivered to the United States army officers.

The equine survivor of the Carrizal fight had been in the Carranza cavalry since it was captured by a Mexican soldier at Carrizal. It was recognized in Juarez by an American and upon being informed that the mare had belonged to the dead officer, General Francisco Gonzales ordered it delivered to General Geo. Bell here. The mare probably will be sent to Lieutenant Adair's relatives in Portland, Ore.

STATES HEALEY ENFORCED LAW WITH PARTIALITY

Assistant To State's Attorney Hoyne On Stand

Charges That Graft and Political Support Were Moving Forces Back of the Numerous Revocations and Restorations of Licenses.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Testimony today on the application of State's Attorney Hoyne for warrants for Chief of Police Charles Healy and his secretary, William Luthardt, dealt with the power of the city administration over saloonkeepers through the control of licenses.

Frank Johnson, Jr., assistant to Hoyne, charged that graft and political support, not civic righteousness, were the moving forces back of the numerous revocations and restorations of licenses.

Requests from Healy to Mayor Thompson asking that licenses be restored, seized recently by Hoyne in his raid on the city hall, read uniformly that "the saloon man and a number of reputable citizens" had called on the chief recommending that the license be returned. Today's evidence was to show that in only one instance had disinterested citizens called on the chief, but that in all other cases the "reputable citizens had been city officials, aldermen or Thompson ward leaders."

One witness said he had given $5 to a ward committeeman after the politician had demanded $25 to help get his license back.

"Almost every form of vice, gun fights, robberies and other forms of law violations were committed by saloonkeepers," said Johnston," and Chief Healy, a day or so after he had asked that their licenses be revoked would talk to some politician and the license would be restored."

George Quinn, a saloon owner, testified that he never knew the reason his license was revoked, but that after he had seen A. J. Todd, the Thompson ward committeeman, and Alderman Lawley, it was restored.

James Morzyaski, Philip Poncoli and numerous others received their permits back after seeing their ward committeemen or alderman. Files were referred to show that in all these cases the chief had reported that these men and their reputable citizns had called to see him.

Licenses covering the pool room and restaurants of Dave Miller and of Bolotin and Klein were withdrawn because robbers and gunmen were permitted to loiter there, according to the chief's file. John Kantor, a Thompson leader, was the "reputable citizen" who secured their restoration.

"Chief Healy enforced the law with partiality," continued Johnston. "The poor saloonkeeper in the outside district lost his license if he kept open five minutes after one in the morning. Some of the places ran open until the early hours of the morning and one witness even testified that crowds waited in line to get into them.

"The chief did not show the same spirit toward these places."

Seek Indictment of Hoyne.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 18.—Enemies of Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney of Cook county (Chicago), began a fight today to procure his indictment in Will county.

P. H. O'Donnell, a Chicago criminal lawyer, appeared before State's Attorney Robert W. Martin and presented evidence by which he hopes to indict Hoyne and his assistants on charges of conspiracy and subordination of perjury here.

O'Donnell presented Martin with affidavits, which he declared contain evidence that Harry A. Berger, assistant state's attorney, protected certain burglars in Chicago last April and received money from Nathan Steinberg and Maurice Kleimer, former convicts.

INTERMARRAGE WITH INDIANS INCREASING

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 18—Rev. C. L. Hall of North Dakota, for two score years a missionary on the Fort Berthold reservation declared in an address before the American Missionary association today that red and white races will be completely merged thru intermarriage within the next fifty years.

"Despite the fact that the Indian birth rate is rising and the death rate falling, I believe the Indian race will have disappeared fifty years from now," the speaker said.

Intermarriage between whites and reds is rapidly increasing according to the speaker.

LEONARD SCORES TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 18.—Benny Leonard, New York lightweight, scored a technical knockout in the twelfth round of his fight with Ever Hammer of Chicago here tonight. Hammer's manager stopped the bout to prevent his man from being punished further after Hammer had been knocked down for the count of three. The fight was to have gone fifteen rounds.

ARGUE QUESTION BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Washington, Oct. 18—Whether railways may be compelled to provide cars of special type was argued today before the supreme court in a case involving refusal of the Pennsylvania railroad to furnish tank cars to independent oil shippers. It has been the practice for oil producers to own their own tank cars, but the government contends that a "reasonable" number must be provided by the roads to shippers without private facilities.

ROBBERS HOLD UP SANTA FE TRAIN

Kill Express Clerk, Blow Open And Rifle Safe of Contents

POSSES PICK UP TRAIL

Believe Outlaws are Surrounded In a Ravine North of Bliss, Okla.

AWAIT REINFORCEMENTS

BLISS, Okla., Oct. 18—Southbound Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train No. 405 was held up two and one half miles north of here tonight and an express clerk named Norman was shot to death. The safe in the express car was blown open and rifled of its contents.

It was impossible to learn here how much money, if any, the robbers obtained.

After killing the clerk and wrecking the safe, the bandits entered waiting automobiles on the west side of the track and disappeared.

Possesf rom Bliss, Perry and other nearby towns were carried to the scene of the robbery in a special train. Picking up the trail almost immediately. They followed the robbers toward the hills and late tonight reported they believed the outlaws were surrounded in a ravine. The posses are waiting for reinforcements before closing in.

It is believed that at least two of the bandits boarded the train at Ponca City. As the train neared Bliss two men climbed to the top of the tender and commended the engineer to stop the train. When the engineer obeyed four other men appeared and the engine crew was ordered to detach the engine, tender and baggage car from the passenger coaches.

When the door to the express car was opened, Express Clerk Norman was shot to death by one of the bandits, who fired a load of buskshot into his face and breast. A charge of nitroglycerine was then placed in the safe door and the safe blown open. While the robbery was in progress two of the bandits stood guard over the train crew, with two more at the end of the baggage coach. After taking several packages from the safe the two bandits jumped from the car, were joined by their four companions and disappeared. The engine was then run back to the passenger coaches and the train came into Bliss.

Members of the engine crew expressed the belief that the bandits had been drinking. Bliss is the home of the 101 Ranch and the robbery occurred while the train was passing thru the ranch.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS ELECTS.

El Paso, Oct. 18.—George Albert Smith of Salt Lake City, Utah, was elected president of the International Irrigation Congress tonight at the closing business session of the twenty-third congress here. His election was unanimous.

GRANT SHOPMEN INCREASE IN WAGES

DANVILLE, Ill., Oct. 18.—Following a conference with S. W. J. Jackson, receiver of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad, by a committee of shopmen who have demanded an increase of wages, railroad officials here tonight announced that a flat increase of two and one-half cents an hour had been granted by the company, and that all other employes receiving less than the standard pay in their class will be advanced to the standard rate. This will mean an increase of five to seven cents per hour for a large number of men. The company also agreed to establish the eight-hour day except in roundhouses. The increase affects 1,200 men here and about 1,300 more employed at Villa Grove, Salem, Yard Center, Momence and Evansville, Ind. It is believed the men will accept the increase.

SEEK DISBARMENT OF ATTORNEY

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—An information against John C. Wilson of Chicago, in which the Chicago Bar Association asks his disbarment on the ground that he obtained money under false pretenses was filed in the supreme court today. Wilson is given until December 1 to answer.

FIND FARMER DEAD UNDER AN AUTO

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 18.—Fred Phillips, a farmer of Seneca, was found dead under his automobile this morning. It is supposed he lost control of his machine while returning last night from a visit to one of his farms.

J. H. WALKER DELIVERS ATTACK ON SHERMAN

Flays Senator for Remarks Reflecting On Gompers

Illinois Labor Federation Adopts Resolutions of Censure Directed at Senator — Several Speak Against Sherman.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 18.—John H. Walker, retiring president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor before the convention of that body today delivered an attack on United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman for the senator's recent remarks reflecting on Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Resolutions of censure directed at the senator were adopted.

Rumors that some members of the federation, delegates to this convention, would protect Senator Sherman against the attacks which they foresaw in the convention, were dispelled when a challenge made by Frank Hefferly of Springfield, in which he stated that he "dared" and member of the Illinois State Federation to rise and protect the senator was greeted by silence over the big convention hall.

With the introduction of the resolution to brand Senator Sherman as a "falsifier and a coward" several of the delegates arose in an attempt to speak. Among them were Delegates E. N. Nockels, Elevated Conductors' and Starters' Union, Chicago; Steve Summers, business manager of the Milk Drivers' Union, Chicago; Duncan McDonald, Springfield, and G. M. Clark, Chicago. All were emphatic in their remarks against Sherman. The resolution was unanimously passed by rising vote.

The delegates adopted a resolution urging workingmen to vote against the proposed tax amendment to the state constitution, a resolution favoring the immediate postalization of telephone and telegraph lines and a resolution on new school laws, one provision of which is to be a minimum wage for teachers.

A. H. T. A. RECOVERED MUCH STOLEN PROPERTY

More Than 100 Prosecutions of Horse and Auto Thieves Reported At Beardstown Convention—Election Today.

Beardstown, Ill., Oct. 18.—More than 100 prosecutions of horse and automobile thieves were conducted by the Illinois Anti-Horse Thief association in the last year and much stolen property was recovered, reports of secretaries of various orders of the association, presented to the annual convention here today show. Two hundred delegates are present for a two days' meeting. A burgoo banquet given by the citizens of Beardstown will be the chief social event. The election of officers takes place tomorrow.

The sessions are held at the Gem theater and first on the program on Wednesday morning was the address of welcome by M. H. Harris, mayor of Beardstown. J. M. Pence, state president, made the response for the association and C. A. Schaffer of Beardstown made an address.

A feature of the entertainment Thursday was an automobile parade, lead by the state president and the state officers.

According to word from beardstown, that city is making an effort to secure the convention again in 1917.

WOMAN SHOOTS MAN IN CROWDED COURT ROOM

Asserts Victim Had Ruined Her Home and Happiness and Then Had Scorned Her.

Chicago, Oct. 18—Carrying a babe in her arms, Mrs. Catherine Marak, fired three shots in the crowded courtroom of Judge Foells today, probably fatally wounding Jacob Klaus, whoh ad been named by her husband as co-respondent in a divorce suit.

Klaus, the brother of an alderman, was shot in the head and in the back. The third shot went wild.

The woman said Klaus had ruined her home and happiness and then had scorned her. She is the mother of four children.

Former Governor Charles S. Deneen, who was in court representing a client, was sitting only a few feet from Mrs. Marak when she began shooting.

ITALIAN CRUISER DAMAGED

Berlin, Oct. 18—By Wireless to Sayville—The admiralty announced today that the Italian protected cruiser Libia was hit and severely damaged in the Mediterranean on Oct. 7th by a torpedo from a German submarine.

PLACE M'DANIEL ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 18—Oscar D. McDaniel, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county was put on trial in the criminal court here today under an indictment charging him with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Harriet Moss McDaniels.

A motion to quash the indictment was filed by attorneys for the defense and Bart M. Lockwood, special prosecutor, was instructed to answer it this afternoon. Judge Thomas Ryan started questioning a special panel of 125 veniremen concerning their qualifications for the jury.

War News Summarized

Apparently the Rumanians have been successful, at least temporarily, in stopping the advance of the Teutonic allies all along their border. At no point along the line does either Berlin or Vienna claim fresh successes against the Rumanians, while the Bucharest war office asserts that the troops of King Ferdinand at various points have repulsed the attacks of the Teutonic allies, inflicting heavy losses on them and captured numerous of their officers and men.

Violent fighting is still in progress in Galicia, where on the Narayuvka front, the Bavarians have stormed a Russian position and captured 350 men and 12 machine guns. Berlin asserts that west of Lutsk in Volhynia following the repulse of the Russians, the troops of Emperor Nicholas have not returned to the fray and are merely bombarding the Teutonic positions. The repulse of Austro-German attacks in the Carpathians where snow is falling is recorded by Petrograd.

Both north and south of the Somme the French troops have made fresh gains. The village of Sailly-Saillisel is now entirely in their hands and the Germans have been driven from the hills northwest and northeast. Over a front of a mile south of the river between La Maisonnette and Biaches the German first line defenses have been driven back by the French.

East of Thiepval gains by the British north of Gueudecourt and in the region of Butte de Warlencourt are recorded by the London war office. Patrol and bombardments feature the fighting in Macedonia.

In the Austro-Italian theater the Italians are another step forward in their advance in Trentino, having broken the Austrian line between Cosmagnon and Roite and also taken a commanding position on Mont Pasibio.

SILENT DEMONSTRATIONS PLANNED FOR MEETING

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Plans for a silent demonstration for President Wilson's meeting with the non-partisan woman's league were announced tonight by the National Woman's Party, which is opposing the re-election of the president.

Members of the organization plan to stand silently about the entrance to the building where the president is to speak at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and by the banners they bear hope to attract the women voters away from the Democratic candidate. One of the banners prepared tonight read: "President Wilson, How long do you want us to wait?"

Another said: "Wilson opposed woman's suffrage in congress. Will he have strength enough to pass it? He voted for it in New Jersey, where he knew it would fail."

WILL SEND MEDICAL UNIT TO PALESTINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Due to the prevalence of typhus, cholera and other epidemics in Palestine, it was announced here today by the provisional Zionist committee, arrangements have been made to send a medical unit of ten doctors, five nurses and a representative of the committee together with a supply of drugs to Palestine on the Syrian relief ship that is to leave New York under the joint auspices of the Syrian committee and red cross. The consent of the state department it was announced has been obtained for the purpose. It is planned to take the unit from some Mediterranean port on an United States warship. Funds for the unit and supplies are being raised by Hadassah, the women's branch of the Zionist organization.

FLAYS DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS ALIKE

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 18—Home again in Indiana where he hopes to swing a large vote from both parties J. Frank Hanly, the Prohibition candidate for president, today flayed Democrats and Republicans alike for their subserviency to the liquor interests. They form "an invisible government," he said, which has silenced old parties, state and nationally, but particularly in Indiana.

"I'll give them enough of this 'invisible government' talk before this campaign is over," he shouted to a throng that packed a street around the rear of the dry special train in Lafayette.

No single day's crowds have exceeded those that met the candidate today. In every city visited, scores of Hanly's old friends crowded around him to cheer and yell.

QUAKE AND STORM STRIKE THE SOUTH

Tropical Hurricane Blows Roofs From Houses at Pensacola, Fla.

TWO REPORTED DEAD

Earth Tremors Frighten Many People from Their Homes In Three States

STORM MOVES NORTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 18.—The south was rocked by earthquake and swept by storm at the same time today. While a tropical hurricane was flaying the gulf coast, earth tremors overturned chimneys and frightened many people from their homes in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

The earthquake did little damage, but a wind that reached a velocity of 114 miles an hour lifted roofs from houses at Pensacola, Fla., and sunk a number of vessels in the harbor. One life was lost.

Two small buildings were destroyed and a negro woman was killed by a live wire. Shipping at Mobile had been warned and apparently suffered little harm. Two river steamers were sunk, a schooner and a steamer were driven ashore and small boats were lost.

The earth shocks were felt shortly after four o'clock and were severest in Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., where swaying office buildings were emptied within a few minutes. In these towns chimneys were destroyed and articles were hurled from shelves in residence and shops. Elsewhere no damage was reported.

The earthquake was felt as far north as Louisville, Ky., and east to Augusta, Ga. Its duration was about three minutes and there were two shocks.

The hurricance had been sweeping northward from Yucatan and hit the coast early today. It had moved well into the interior tonight with decreased intensity and shipping was notified by weather offices that all danger was past on the sea.

Several Vessels Sunk.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 18.—Several vessels in the harbor here were sunk, numerous small craft suffered damage and one life was lost in the terrific tropical hurricance that swept thru here today. At one time the wind reached a velocity of 144 mles an hour. Property damage in Pensacola itself was confined chiefly to roofs blown off and plateglass windows destroyed.

The navy aeronautic station near here escaped with comparatively little damage. The newly completed permanent hangars withstood the gale, but several aeroplanes were reported damaged.

The gale came in such terrific and sudden gusts that it blew three or four persons thru plateglass windows in the downtown district and carried away the weather observation tower on top of a high building. The barometer registered 29.05 just before all instruments were put out of commission this morning and the gale had raged up to 114 miles and then dropped in ten minutes to 14 before a change of direction and a rise to 78 took off the tower. The one life reported lost was that of Daniel Cobb, cook on the small steamer Flanders which was reported sunk two miles from here. Its crew was brought here tonight. Several persons were slightly injured.

Shipping damage besides that to numerous small boats and fishing craft and the Flanders included the driving together of the Norwegian bark Oaklands, 898 tons, and the 468 ton Steamer J. E. DuBignon. Both suffered damage, which could not be accurately estimated tonight. Three fishing schooners were driven ashore and the Russian bark Albyn went adrift in the bay but was recovered. The small schooner Amy Vixon in tow of the Flanders broke loose and had not been accounted for tonight. It was not known how many men were aboard.

The storm isolated Pensacola from about 8 o'clock this morning until shortly before eight o'clock tonight.

Cold Wave Traveling East.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The tropical hurricane which struck the gulf coast today is greatly decreasing in intensity as it moves northward and is causing rains which the weather bureau expects will overspread most of the country east of the Mississippi Thursday and Friday. Traveling eastward from Montana, Wyoming and the Dakotas is a cold wave which is expected to cause snow and freezing weather in the upper lake regions Friday and a lesser drop in temperatures thru the east Friday night or Saturday.

Reports coming in late tonight from many small towns in Alabama indicated that the damage in rural districts might reach many thous-

Notable Figures In History.

Today a group of men known as the telephone pioneers of America will meet in reunion at Atlanta. They will gather there for two days purely in a social way and the company will include such conspicuous figures as Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, Theodore N. Vail and R. H. Starrett. The gathering of these conspicuous citizens brings to mind how great is the world's debt to them and brings also to mind how marvelous has been the development of the telephone and the telegraph and how closely related these inventions have been to all modern progress.

When Dr. Bell and a few others of the group pass on there will be no need for monuments in their memory, for "their work will follow them," evidenced in the marvelous advances which their earlier efforts made possible. These tangible improvements and conveniences and the close relationship between them and commercial development will furnish more lasting and conspicuous memorials than could be erected in marble or bronze.

Yale's Great Pageant.

"The pageant's the thing" nowadays. At almost every celebration or convention one reads that a pageant illustrating some historical event was an important feature of the program. This present day rule is to hold true when the celebration of Yale's 200th anniversary is observed next Saturday. On that date it will be just two centuries from the time that the small group of ministers who formed the Yale faculty decided that they could do better work in New Haven than at Saybrook, where the infant college had been located since its founding fifteen years earlier. They decided to move to New Haven and in celebration of the anniversary a mammoth pageant has been planned depicting historical facts connected with the university. It is expected that 6,000 actors will be on the stage at one time and thus a new record in numbers will be made for those taking part in any drama, play or pageant, at least in modern times.

The history of Yale has been so notable and so long that the dramatists have had adundant material to work upon and there is every reason for the expectation that their efforts will surpass anything of the kind previously attempted and thus new laurels will be won for the great university, which occupies such a unique place in not only American history but in the history of education.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

THE BOOB

I often think that old Bill Wax should occupy a padded cell; his intellect is full of cracks, like some outworn, discordant bell. All lunatics should be in charge of keepers, at the booby place; that old Bill Wax remains at large, you will admit, is a disgrace. I talk with him fro mday to day, no word of mine from day to day, no word of mine thing I say, he makes me hot, from head to heels. When I explain that Charley Hughes, is, as a statesman, truly great, old Bill hands out his moldy views, indorsing t'other candidate. When I rebuke the kaiser's course, and say his conduct is a shame, old Wax will argue, till he's hoarse, that Nicholas must bear the blame. Whatever argument I make, whatever words of truth I say, old Bill the other side will take, and chew the rag for half a day. And have heard that he explains to those who'll listen for a spell, that I have weevil in my brains, and should be in a padded cell!

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

October 19, 1781—Thes urrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown virtually ended the American Revolution; and the American flag was left waving over the posts in Illinois.

California Women for Hughes.

Telegrams from California flooded the office of Miss Harriet E. Vittum at Republican Headquarters yesterday protesting against the statement made by Mrs. Francis J. Heney of California claiming that the women of that state would vote for Mr. Hughes.

Mrs. Mary S. Gibson of San Francisco, sends the following word: "Mrs. Heney is absolutely mistaken in her statement in regard to suffrage women of California being for Wilson. The women most prominent in the suffrage fight in California are very generally for Mr. Hughes, speaking and working enthusiastically for him. Mrs. Seward A. Simmons, president, Southern California Political Equality League; Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, president, Votes for Women Club; Mesdames Berthold Baruch, D. G. Stephens, Florence Collins Porter, Katherine P. Edson, A. W. Francisco, Margaret J. Frick, Frank A. Gibson, Abbie L. Krebs, Waldo York, Fred W. Wood, Cora D. Lewis, A. S. Libinger, O. P. Clark, C. A. Bass, Dr. Evangeline Jordan, Louise Harvey Clark, Miss Helen Wisler, Miss Julia George and numerous other prominent women are getting votes for Hughes."

Fooling Labor.

While President Wilson is trying to fool labor into the belief that he is a sincere advocate of the 8-hour day, his own cabinet is violating an 8-hour day law. If an 8-hour day has "the sanction of society," as Mr. Wilson declared regarding the railway controversy, why is it not enforced in the postal service? is the question which Thomas F. Flaherty, president of the National Federation of Post-office Clerks, has put to various officials and finally to the President.

After expending every effort to relieve the abuse of postal clerks, which he describes as worse under the Wilson administration than ever before, President Flaherty finally wrote President Wilson describing the outrageous treatment of the postal clerks and asserting that Postmaster General Burleson and other responsible officials "are seemingly indifferent to the plight of the clerks." By his failure to answer Mr. Flaherty's letter President Wilson indicates that he is equally indifferent to the welfare of the postal clerks. "The postal department officials have placed you in the untenable position of advocating a principle in private employment—the eight hour day—which is not in effect in Government employment, solely because of a desire for a greater postal surplus," wrote Mr. Flaherty to President Wilson.

Birth of the Suffrage Movement.

Today, Oct. 19, is the sixty-sixth anniversary of the first woman's rights convention in the United States. The convention opened Oct. 19, 1850, at Worcester, Mass., and eleven states were represented: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermant, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecteut, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio Iowa and California. Among the speakers were men and women prominent in American history: Catherine M. Sedgwick, William Ellery Channing, Eliazbeth Cady Stanton, Wendell Phillips, John Greenleaf Whittier, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Bronson Alcott and many other leaders of that generaton.

This birth of the suffragist movement also registered the birth of the "antis," for on the occasion many prominent women refused to be present, to have their names connected in any way with the issues, and wrote to the convention leaders letters of refusal and condemnation which could be described only as "real saucy." In these early days, however, the movement was laughed at, and the "antis" did not yet dream of the necessity of organizing to combat the danger of a great political upheaval, as they have since done.

New Opportunities.

The ever widening field of activity for American women is now reaching down into Latin America, where there is an increasing demand for teachers of English. These positions mean more than appears at first glance, for the American women who secure positions as teachers in colleges or universities in the countries in South America, or as governesses in wealthy families are able to acquire a knowledge of Spanish and of conditions in South America which will speedily be of commercial value to them under present day conditions. The trade relations between the two Americas are developing in such a rapid and large way that there is already a great demand for secretaries, correspondents and stenographers who have an understanding of the Spanish language.

Home Rule in Utility Affairs.

The only explanation for the charges now trumped up for Col. Lowden, that he is a representative of the traction interests, is that the Democrats recoghize the trend of the campaign and realize that the well substantiated charges against the Democratic administration for reckless extravagance are having their effect upon the voters of the state.

Col. Lowden and the Republican platform have both declared in favor of home rule for Chicago in utility affairs and that's all there is to the whole utility question which is now brought into prominence. The record of work of the utility commission shows the feasibility and fairness of changng the utility commission act to exclude Chicago affairs from its operation. The utility commission certainly has all the business that can be given prompt and proper attention in the cities and counties down state without having the great burden of Chicago affairs. The traction problems there are so different from those in the remainder of the state that it is entirely reasonable that Chicago citizens should claim the right to handle those questions themselves.

Lowden Financed Own Campaign.

Colonel Lowden came back at Governor Dunne in no uncertain way in his Peoria speech last night. The Republican candidate for governor gave an unequivocal denial to the suggestion emanating from Governor Dunne that Colonel Lowden represents the great traction interests of the state and that his election would mean a surrender of the peoples' rights. All along it has been Colonel Lowden's policy to refrain from personalities but this charge of Gov. Dunne has touched upon his integrity and he is quick to resent it.

The public will not only be interested in the statement about traction matters that Colonel Lowden makes, but also in his incidental remark that no corporation or anybody else contributed toward his campaign fund. The expenses of that campaign, were large but because of his wealth Colonel Lowden has been able to finance his own campaign. Thus far nearly all of the attacks made upon Colonel Lowden have been because of his wealth. That constitutes merely an appeal to prejudice and no fair minded Illinoisan is opposed to Colonel Lowden because he is a man of such large means.

The present primary law makes necessary large expenditures in campaigning by men who aspire to office, and certainly the candidate who is able to finance his own campaign, if successful and elected, is in a much more independent position than the candidate who wages his campaign on funds contributed by his friends or by those interests expecting favors afterward.

CHEERING CROWDS GREET PRESIDENT

Executive Refuses to Make Extended SPeeches but Thanks the Crowds Briefly for Coming to See Him.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 18.—On board President Wilson's special train—President Wilson was greeted by cheering crowds at ten New York cities and towns during brief stops made thig afternoon and tonight as he passed thru the state on his way to Chicago to speak there tomorrow. The president refused to make extended speeches, but in each town he thanked the crowds briefly for coming to see him.

At Oneida tonight a man in the crowd shouted:

"Hurrah for the second Abraham Lincoln!"

"I am afraid I can't play that game," the president called back.

Mr. Wilson appeared on the observation platform of his private car at Harmon, Poughkeepsie, Albany, Schenectady, Amsterdam, Fonda, Utica, Rome and Oneida before reaching Syracuse. Stops of more than five minutes were made here and at Albany, but at the other places the train paused only for a minute or two.

The president's hand was so vigorously shaken at Albany that the skin was torn off of a finger in his right hand and for several minutes he stood with a bloody handerchief in one hand, shaking hands with the other.

"It's good red blood, anyway," called out one man.

Tonight Dr. Cary T. Grayson the white house physician bound up the injured finger and Mr. Wilson used his left hand in greeting those who met him.

At several stops band played when Mr. Wilson appeared. Here at Syracuse the biggest demonstration of the day was staged. Members of a Democratic Club marched alongside the train as it ran thru the city and red lights flared. Democratic speakers in automobiles addressed the crowds which lined the tracks.

As the president's train passed thru West Albany the engineers on nearly a score of locomotives blew their whistles. Local politicians boarded the train at several stops and met Mr. Wilson.

Tomorrow morning the president's train is to make brief stops at Goshen, Ind., Elkhart, Ind., South Bend, Kendallville, Ind., Ligonier and Gary. He will arrive in Chicago at 11:50 o'clock.

Will Make Three Addresses.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—President Wilson will make three addresses in Chicago tomorrow. At one p. m., he will address the Press Club of Chicago at a luncheon. At 2:30 p. m., he will return to the hotel where he will confer with Senator Thomas J. Walsh, manager of western Democratic national headquarters and other party leaders. At 4 p. m. he will address a non-partisan mass meeting for women at the Auditorium. At 8 p. m., President Wilson will deliver an address at the stock yards pavilion where Judge Clarence N. Goodwin will preside.

President Wilson will leave Chicago at 11:45 p. m., for the east.

VIRGINIA PRISONER CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

William Manwaring, a Trusty, Makes Getaway, and Is Found in Straw Pile Near Literberry.

William Manwaring, serving a three-months' term for wife and child abandonment in the Cass County jail, made a break for liberty about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He went southward, walking all the way, and when this side of Literberry left the road and took refuge in a straw stack on the farm of Allen Carpenter.

Meanwhile, Sheriff J. R. Sligh and two of his deputies had given pursuit and on arrival at Literberry a number of citizens joined in the chase.

Charles McDonald had talked to the man a short time before and it was through his guidance that the man was found and later returned to Virginia. It is understood that Mr. McDonald wil be entitled to the reward of $50 offered for the return of the prisoner.

Manwaring was a trusty and this was the first time he had attempted to take advantage of the liberties given him.

THOUSANDS OF MITTENS

An article that has recently come into use by farmers is the cheap mitten sold at the clothing stores at sixty cents a dozen pairs. Some farmers buy as high as ten dozen pairs and one man bought twelve dozen pairs. They are especially in demand at corn husking time and can be worn five cents worth and thrown away. If they get wet they can be dried and if they get too badly torn they can be cast away as they cost only a nickel a pair. Merchants buy them by the hundreds of dozens and they go off rapidly at this time of the year.

BIRTH RECORD.

Born, Wednesday, to the Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Mullikin of Concord, a son, Joseph Huron Mullikin.

Born, at Passavant hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Robinson, east of the city, a son.

BRING IRISH QUESTION TO THE FORE IN HOUSE

Parliament Decides Debate of Irish Politics is Undesirable

Motion of John Redmond Criticising System of Government of the Island Brings up eDbate—Leader's Motion Is Defeated.

London, Oct. 18.—Parliament today after a set debate in the house of commons decided by a majority of 197 that it was undesirable at present to discuss Irish controversial domestic politics.

The Irish question was again brought to the fore in the house of commons today with the introduction by John Redmond of a motion criticising the system of government of the island. The motion reads:

"That the system of government at present maintained in Ireland is inconsistent with the principles wherefore the Allies are fighting in Europe and is, or has been, mainly responsible for the recent unhappy events and for the present state of feeling in that country."

The difficult task of the nationalists to popularize the army had been systematically thwarted, Mr. Redmond said. The new national university was not allowed to organize an officers' training corps, while a number of privleges had been granted Trinity University. He complained generally of the unsympathetic attitude of the war office in regard to various measures suggested to popularize recruiting in Ireland. Charges were made but too late, he declared.

Taking each thing indivdually he went on, the effect was small, but cumulatively the effect was enormous and the undoubted enthusiasm at the beginning of the war began to die away.

The final blow came in the formation of the coalition government the speaker said. From that day recruiting for the army had diminished and recruiteing of the Sinn Feiners had increased. From that day things went from bad to worse and finally came the rebellion.

"I am profoundly convinced that if the rising had been dealt with in the spirit with which Premier Botha dealt with the rising in South Africa it would have meant the saving of the situation." Mr. Redmond went on. "Ireland was denounced because a couple of thousand men had attempted this mad rebellion. Ireland had not been trusted like South Africa; Ireland, who hadn't had ten years experience with free institutions like South Africa."

Mr. Redmond asked what was the purpose of the government in setting up a unionist administration in Dublin and what they proposed to do. "Had the new chief secretary found a solution? Was it proposed to maintain martial law?" He said he would do everything possible to maintain the Irish regiments at their full strength but it was no use asking him to do the impossible. It was the duty of the empire to remove all that made for bad faith and bad management and settle on a basis of freedom and responsibility. Compulsion, he declared would only aggravate the difficulty and he asked that the Irish recruits enlisted in the United Kingdom should be sent to Irish regiments.

"The whole situation can only be met by boldly grappling with the Irish situation."

John P. F. Rawlinson, Unionist for Cambridge University, moved amendment to Mr. Redmond's motion as follows:

"Having regard for the importance to the United Kingdom of Ireland combining with the rest of the empire in presenting a united front to the enemy it is not desirable at the present time to discuss controversial matters of domestic policy."

Sir John Simon, the former home secretary contended that the continuance of martial law in Ireland was needless. Its removal, he said, would asuage the bitter and dangerous feelings.

John Norton Griffith, Unionist, having expressed the opinion that it would be impracticable to attempt to apply conscription in Ireland, Premier Asquith rising, admitted that there had been a regrettable blunder in recruiting in the early stages and said that Mr. Redmond's suggestions for filling up with Irishmen the wasted ranks of the gallant Irish division would receive the most sympathetic attention. No man had rendered more constant, loyal or effective service in recruiting, he declared, than the Irish leader.

Repudiating the allegation that Dublin Castle was being run by a Unionist administration the premier said it must be remembered that they were dealing with a provisional and, he hoped, a transitory situation. He did not consider it safe, in view of the possible recrudescence of recent events to dispense with the existing safeguards, but the government was desirous at the earliest possible moment to revert to normal conditions.

Turning to the question of 560 Irish prisoners held for participation in the Irish uprising some stormy passages occurred. Mr. Asquith promised that those detained should be liberated at the moment it was considered safe to do so.

The nationalist member, Alfred Byrne, representing a division of Dublin, shouted:

"They are starving."

Any complaints brought to the notice of the Home Secretary, said Mr. Asquith, would receive immediate attention. Timothy Healy interrupted, saying:

"He is the hardest hearted gaoler we ever had."

"The honorable gentleman," replied the premier, "knows that that description is not applicable to the home secretary. Let him produce his facts."

Mr. Healy shouted:

"It is idle to do so. Let the American ambassador visit the prisoners."

"If the American ambassador will give himself the trouble," responded the premier, "I shall be most happy. I take nothing back of what I said on my return from a visit to Ireland with regard to the impossibility of forcibly imposing on any part of Ireland a form of government lacking their consent."

Nationalist cries of: "What are you doing now?"

In conclusion the premier said that the atmosphere now existing in Ireland could be dispersed only by an agreed settlement. He believed there was no party, no sane politician in Great Britain who would not welcome with joy such an agreement and co-operate whole heartedly therein, and he prayed it might be soon reached.

The premier's speech was reached with manifest signs of disapproval by the nationalists.

David Lloyd-George, secretary for war said:

"At the most crucial period of recruiting, at the beginning of the war some stupidities, which at times almost looked like malignance were perpetrated in Ireland and were beyond belief. It is very difficult to recover a lost opportunity of that kind where national suseptibilities have been offended and original enthusiasm killed."

The total number of recruits from Ireland since the beginning of the war, said the war secretary was 105,000 or two and one half percent of the population, which was very low compared with the remainder of the United Kingdom and Dominions.

Looking at the urgency of the military problem he hoped that the men of all parties would help Mr. Redmond to their utmost to solve his difficulties and create a better atmosphere in Ireland with regard to recruiting. He desired to see this gallant and warlike people brought back to their original temper at the outbreak of the war. Everybody in England and the men of all parties in Ireland should consider how to remove the causes of injustice, distrust and suspicion between the two races which rendered it impossible for them to co-operate.

"I believe it can be done," said the secretary. "Before beginning any controversy about recruiting in Ireland, I should like to see that considered. I am making this appeal as secretary for war because I know how vital it is that everything the empire can do in every quarter should be summoned to our aid in this great struggle. Let us make it easy for Ireland to assist. Let everybody in Great Britain subordinate everything to securing the assistance of this great race. And I make the same appeal to Ireland."

Mr. Redmond's motion was defeated 303 to 106.

STORMY TIME LIKELY IN SUFFRAGE MEETING

Fight for Federal Amendment for Universal Suffrage Will Center at Illinois Capital This Week.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—The fight in Illinois of the Woman's Congressional union for a federal constitutional amendment providing universal suffrage in the United States, which has been waged in the last few months in suffrage conventions all over the country, will center in Springfield when the Illinois Equal Suffrage association meets here tomorrow, it was predicted by leading suffragists here tonight.

The Woman's Congressional union has gone on record in oppositon to the re-election of President Wilson, and it was predicted workers of the party will be here in force to endeavor to get some partisan expression from the Illinois association. Members of the association who are strongly opposed to the endorsement of any candidate, said they will be able successfully to block any such attempt to draw party lines.

This fight, it was hinted, may overshadow the real issue to be considered by the convention, which, it has been announced, is the problem of how to obtain full suffrage for women in Illinois. The entire convention will be given over to this question, if other issues not now in view do not interfere.

The convention will meet in the hall of representatives in the capitol and will be in session three days.

Three methods of obtaining full suffrage in this state will be proposed. They are: Suffrage by constitutional convention, by an amendment to the amending clause, and by federal amendment. Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout of Chicago, former presidents of the association, will lead the discussion with the question: "How May the Subject Be Presented?" The federal amendment phase will be discussed by State Senator Hugh S. Magill, Jr., Springfield.

Mrs. Harrison M. Brown of Peoria, president of the association, has announced that she will not be a candidate for re-election and Mrs. Trout has been urged to seek the position again. She, with Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston, led the fight which resulted in the suffrage law now in force in Illinois, and Mrs. Trout's friends want her to direct the battle for full suffrage in the state.

PAINTING AT Y. M. C. A.

The work of retinting the walls and ceilings at the Y. M. C. A. has been completed and all the rooms and passageways are now pleasingly colored in light blue and salmon. The work was done by Mr. Brewer, the physical director, and by L. S. Recker, janitor of the building.

Mobile Battered Two Hours

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 18—Mobile was battered for two hours and a half by a tropical hurricane today which caused about $10,000 damage in the city proper and more damage to vessels in the harbor. One fatality, a negro woman killed by a live wire, was reported, and no reports of persons injured were received by the police.

According to weather bureau re a velocity of 115 miles an hour. The lowest barometer was 29:16 at 8:25 a. m.

Mobile's streets were darkened tonight but there appeared but little damage to electric circuits. The electric company announced tonight that current was turned off on street lights because of danger from a few prostrated wires. Residence and business houses tonight were supplied with electricity and both telegraph companies had wires to the outside world, altho their service was crippled.

DENY WOMEN EQUAL RIGHTS WITH MEN

Episcopalians Reject Proposal to Permit Women to Sit as Delegates in the General Convention.

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—Women were denied equal rights with men in two actions taken today by the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal general convention in session here. A proposal to permit women to sit as delegates in the general convention was rejected while a request from the Right Rev. Logan H. Roots, bishop of Hankow to be allowed to admit women to membership in his advisory council was denied.

The proposal to give women equal rights with men in the convention was sponsored by Robert H. Gardiner of Gardiner, Me. The view of the House of Bishops, which also considered changes recommended in the communion service by the commission on the book of common prayer will suggest in its report to the house of deputies that the ten commandments be printed in the prayer book in both their shortened form and in their full form and that clergymen be given optional use of either service, it was stated.

The commission had recommended that five of the commandments be shortened as read in the communion service, by the elimination of the reasons. Efforts to have the prayer of George Washington, uttered on the occasion of his laying down the supreme command of the federal armies adapted and substituted for the present prayer "for our country" in the book of Common Prayer were inaugurated in the house of deputies by Roland S. Morris, of Philadelphia. Establishment of a permanent church publicity bureau, because of the increasing dependency of the church upon the press was urged in a resolution adopted by the house of deputies today.

The bureau, according to the plan announced is to study means of getting the co-operation of the newspapers of the country in carrying on the work of the churches.

In presenting the resolution Francis L. Stetson of New York asserted that the church is under the greatest obligation to the press.

"The newspaper is the greatest publicity medium," said the report. "Thru the press we can accomplish a great religious work in reaching the man outside the walls of our churches. Altruistic organizations of all kinds are depending more and more on the press for support in their work. As a matter of business egiciency this church should follow the lead and establish a permanent publicity bureau."

The house adopted a resolution thanking th epress of the country for its support in the present convention.

Two thousand St. Louisians presented at the Coliseum tonight the pageant of the church, depicting in nine episodes the history of the apostolic Anglican and the Protestant Episcopal churches.

PYTHIANS TO MEET NEXT YEAR IN PEORIA

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 18.—Peoria won the three-cornered race for the next Illinois Pythian Grand Lodge, after East Saint Louis had been eliminated, at today's session of the 1916 grand lodge. Only 29 votes majority were secured over LaSalle-Peru.

Grand representatives are to be made responsible for the conditons of the subordinate lodges by the grand lodge hereafter as a result of the action taken today, handling all correspondence instead of the keepers of records and seal. Special stress was laid today on the need of inspiration in the order, heart to heart talks being delivered by Supreme Chancellor John J. Brown, Augustus A. Partlow, retirng grand chancellor, John J. Reeve, incoming grand chancellor and Representative Jacob J. G. Derx of Belmas No. 563. Installation of the grand officers took place at an impressive service tonight in the assembly hall of the Illinois State Pythian Home for children.

DEMOCRATIC RALLIES.

Rain interfered quite materially with the Democratic automobile tour in the county yesterday. The principal speakers were Congressman Henry T. Rainey and Louis D. Hirsheimer, candidate for member of the board of equalization. The evening meeting was held in Franklin. The itinerary plan for today begins with Woodson and closes with a meeting here tonight. However, it is probable it will be necessary to postpone several of the country meetings on account of the muddy highways.

ENTERTAINMENT POSTPONED.

Owing to the inclement weather, the entertainment at Brush college north, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, Oct. 24.

COL. LOWDEN BRANDS DUNNE CHARGE FALSE

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE RESENTS SUGGESTION THAT UTILITY CONCERNS BACK HIM

In Peoria Speech Governor is Asked In Interest of People to Give Any Evidence He Has to Substantiate Charge Made — Lowden Calls Statement Made Characteristically Reckless.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 18—(Special)—Disregarding the advice of his attending physician Frank O. Lowden appeared on the platform at the Republican meeting in Peoria tonight and denounced as a falsehood the statement of Governor Dunne in Chicago yesterday, practically charging that the Chicago traction interests are working for the election of the Republican candidate for governor with a view to an enormous traction grab and to cheat the city out of a municipality owned subway. Colonel Lowden branded the governor's statement as utterly false and declared that anyone making such a baseless charge is unfit for the society of honest men.

Statement Branded False

This statement by Governor Dunne he puts in the same class with all the other statements and promises made by his opponent who, he declared has never gone into office upon an important pledge which he has fulfilled nor upon a charge against a political opponent which was not proven false.

Col. Lowden's voice, which left him last Monday afternoon, necessarily was weak, but he read his statement with the full force of the vigor at his command. He said: "Today's Chicago papers announce that Governor Dunne claims to have discovered a $250,000,000 grab plot on the part of the traction interests of Chicago, and that I am a party to the conspiracy. If Governor Dunne has any evidence of this conspiracy, he owes it to the people of Chicago and to common decency to furnish some evidence of it. If his charges against me are true, I am unfit, not only for the office of Governor, but for any trust public or private. If his charges against me are not true, Governor Dunne is unfit for the society of honest men.

Home Rule for Utilities

"I had never heard even remotely of any such dishonest project as he describes, if, however, there be such conspiracy, I shall certainly oppose it with all my power. He speaks of a resurrection of the Allen and Humphrey bills. Perhaps he does not know that I opposed these measures publicly from the platform in Chicago at the time they were pending. I would remind him that the people of Chicago believe that their best security for the preservation of their streets for the people would be to restore to the people of Chicago the control over their public utilities which Governor Dunne snatched from them. I have stated publicly after careful consideration that I believed such control should be restored to Chicago. Our platform so states. Governor Dunne and Governor Dunn's platform are alike silent upon the proposition." But this reckless and false charge is in keeping with Governor Dunne's whole record. The sole issue upon which he was elected mayor was to give Chicago immediate municipal ownership. Of course, he failed in this. He not only failed as mayor to give them municipal ownership, but as governor he took away from them municipal control of their own cal utilities.

The Extravagance Charge

"Now we find as governor he is playing the same role that he played as mayor. He went into the governor's office upon the false charge that Republican expenditures had amounted to a "saturnalia" and upon the barren promise that he would reduce state taxes and the state's expenditure. Under his administration and at his behest state taxes have increased more than fifty percent and the total expenses of the state administration have been almost thirty five million dollars more than any Republican administration in the history of the state.

"Again as when he was mayor, he has failed to keep a single important promises he has made. But he hopes to again mislead the people by making false charges against the Republican candidate for governor. When he sought re-election as mayor he was overwhelmingly defeated, and on November 7th, unless all signs fail he will meet the same fate.

"Governor Dunne has never gone into an executive office upon an important pledge which he has fulfilled, nor upon a charge against a political opponent which has not proven false.

Reply Because of Implication

"I would not notice Governor Dunne's strictures upon me if, in this last ebullition he had not called into question my integrity for if what he says about me with all its implications were true, I would be the most despicable grafter upon a wholesale plan in the history of the state.

"I would deliberately betray the almost quarter million men who voted for me in the primaries and the larger number who will vote for me in November. This, I am confident, the people will not believe. His whole case is based upon his charge that the public utility corporations financed my primary campaign. When he makes this charge he utters falsehood. No public utility corporation, nor any other corporation or individual, contributed one dollar to my campaign. The fact is that if I am elected, no one will have gone into the governor's office freer from obligation to any special interest than I.

"I was able to finance by own campaign; and I want to submit that the real enemy to the people in this country is not so much the man of means as the weak and unscrupulous demagogue, who to gain his own selfish ends deliberately attempts to mislead the people to their own undoing."

MRS. J. M. SCOBEY INJURED IN AUTO SMASHUP

Former Resident of Jacksonville Is Now in a California Sanitarium.

Friends of Mrs. J. M. Scobey who before her marriage was Mrs. B. F. Wooster, have received news that she was injured not long ago in an automobile accident in California. As a result of this accident Mrs. Scobey had one leg broken in two places, a knee cap injured and her nose badly cut, and is now in a hospital in Auburn, California. A letter came to members of the Rebekah lodge here telling of the accident and asking that they write letters to Mrs. Scobey who is naturally very lonesome in the hospital in a city where she is a stranger.

A newspaper story recently was to the effect that Mrs. Scobey had separated from her husband who had disappeared with a number of valuable rings and some of her money. It is understood that subsequently this misunderstanding was cleared up and Mrs. Scobey was riding with her husband when the automobile accident occurred.

DISCUSS LEGISLATION AFFECTING FARMERS

Senator Hoke Smith Addresses Farmers' National Congress at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 18—Recent federal legislation affecting the farmer was discussed at tonight's session of the farmer's national congress meeting here, by United States Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia. Mrs. Scott S. Durand, owner of Crabtree Farm, near Lake Bluff, Ill., told of her experience with the hoof and mouth disease of cattle.

Senator Smith reviewed the federal legislation relating to farms from the time of President Washington, adding that "it has remained for legislators only in recent times to meet the national responsibility and thru national legislation to act upon the problems of the farm."

He praised the work of the agricultural experiment stations and stated that "the country is to be congratulated that on May 8th, 1914 the president of the United States had an opportunity to approve an act by which the national government, co-operating with the states, will carry the work of the agricultural experiment stations to the farmers in their homes."

He declared that by 1923, when the appropriation under the law reaches its high mark, every county in every state in the union should have a thoroly trained farm leader carrying the benefits of the agricultural colleges to every farmer in the country.

"Good roads are essential to the development of agriculture," said Senator Smith who then explained the good roads law at length, declaring that it "does not involve simply the construction of great national highways, but also the development generally of better roads in the local communities accessible to the farmers."

JUDY HORSE SALE AT TALLULA A SUCCESS

Saddlers Brought Good prices—Buyers There from Distant Points.

The saddle horse and mule sale of C. C. Judy at Tallula Wednesday was most satisfactory in every way. There were buyers from many parts of the United States. Among the principal buyers were Blade and Holman, Holliday, Mo.; Edward Moore, Columbus, Mo.; Dr. Donald, Lincoln, Ill.; Clarence Donovan, Boston, Mass.; Hunt Brothers, Bloomington; Hay and Brown, Springfield; John Manes, Hersman.

Saddle horses sold from $250 to $580 and mules brought from $300 to $350. Not many ponies were sold. Just as the sale of ponies began it started to rain and spoiled that portion of the sale.

Blade and Holman paid the highest price of the day for Betty Flynn, bidding her in at $580. Edward Moore of Columbia gave $405 for Lady Walnut. Mr. Judy was well pleased with the sale and accounted it one of the most successful he has ever held.

INVESTIGATING CONDITIONS.

Dr. M. R. Smith of Chicago, a representative of the western headquarters of the National Republican Committee, is making a brief visit in Morgan county to inquire somewhat into political conditions. Dr. Smith, who was prominently aligned with the Progressive party movement in Cook county in 1912, has been assigned to this congressional district for "scouting" work. Dr. Smith has long been interested in political affairs and is well posted on conditions throughout the state.

MINISTERS TO URGE ARMENIAN RELIEF

Resolution Favoring Aid to Suffering Asiatic Christians Passed Wednesday—Address by Supt. Perrin.

At a meeting of the Jacksonville Ministerial association held Wednesday morning it was decided to assist locally in securing a relief fund for Armenians who are suffering because of the war. The association took action asking that Supt. Perrin of the Jacksonville schools attend the next regular meeting and discuss the relationship of the Sunday school to the public schools.

It is the purpose of the ministers to enlarge the scope of this meeting and to extend special invitation to all Sunday school superintendents, teachers and officers to attend.

A favorable vote on the question of establishing a county hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis was sought by Carl H. Weber, secretary of the Morgan County Anti-Tuberculosis league. On motion of Rev. E. B. Landis, the ministers declared their willingness to co-operate in every way possible and the matter will be presented to the congregations of the several churches October 29 or on some other Sunday suited to the wishes of the ministers. The decision to assist in the cause of the Armenians was set forth in the following resolution, which was presented by Rev. E. L. Pletcher, seconded by Rev. M. L. Pontius:

"Resolved that the Jacksonville Ministerial association endorse the effort of the federation of churches for Armenian Relief Sunday as recommended by the congress and the president of the United States, and recommend that each church present the appeal to its congregation at its earliest convenience."

SUMMERS FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Remains of Young Man Killed in Wreck Brought to Home of Parents—Broken Whistle Cord Said to Have Caused Collision.

Funeral services for Harry Summers will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Summers, south of the city, in charge of Dr. F. A. McCarty. The remains of the young man arrived in Jacksonville yesterday over the Chicago & Alton, accompanied by H. H. Self of Hillview, brother-in-law of the deceased.

According to the story in the Alton Daily Times a broken whistle cord was the cause of the wreck on the Chicago & Alton near Upper Alton in which Fireman Summers lost his life.

The engine of the north bound train of which Summers was fireman had a broken whistle cord. When the train left Upper Alton siding where some switching had been done, Engineer Hornbeck reached up to try to repair the cord. Summers was busy shoveling coal. The engineer failed to see the approaching train and when the collision occurred he thought the boiler had exploded.

Crushed and Scalded.

When the collision occurred the tender of the north bound freight telescoped the cab. In some manner Hornbeck managed to escape but Summers was pinned against the head of the boiler. The body could not be released until a switching crew from Alton arrived at the scene o fthe wreck and coupled to the train and pulled the tender away. Then the body was released and fell to the ground. Life, however, was extinct as Summers was not only crushed but badly scalded.

Both the train crews claimed to have the right of way. However, the conductor of the north bound train on which Summers lost his life had the staff which gives the train the right to the block. Supt. S. P. Henderson of the Chicago & Alton is making a thoro investigation to fix the blame for the accident.

The Engineer's Story.

Hornsback, engineer on train No. 120, said Wednesday morning that he could not see the train from the north on account of a curve in the track and knew nothing of the impending disaster until the crash came. Hornsback was taken to St. Joseph's hospital at Alton, where upon examination it was found he had suffered a broken foot and numerous slight bruises about the body. H. A. Rule, conductor on the same train, received a cut on the head and a number of minor injuries.

The relief corps of the Western Military academy, located near the scene of the wreck, were soon on the ground and assisted in clearing away the debris and caring for the injured. A number of spectators were painfully burned when a car of crude sulphuric acid sprang a leak soon after the wreck. The liquid flowed down into a field adjacent to the track and many spectators walked thru it, thinking it was water.

Duofold health underwear was introduced to the men here the fall of 1911 by the Frank Byrns Hat Store. This season a larger assortment than before is shown at former prices, $2, $3 or $3.50 per suit at Frank Byrns Hat Store.

A SUCCESSFUL FIRM.

Notice was made recently of the dissolution of partnership between P. J. Shanahan and Mr. D. Shanahan, the firm having been conducted under the name of Shanahan & Shanahan. The firm has done a very successful business at the East State street store and M. D. Shanahan has retired in order to devote his attention to some other interests. P. J. Shanahan, who will continue the store, started in the grocery business in 1900 after giving up a position he had at the C. P. & St. L. shops. Thru his ability and strict attention to business he has come to be known as one of the successful merchants of Jacksonville. In various ways he has been a useful citizen and ranks well among his associates.

WELL KNOWN YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED

Miss Vortman Becomes Bride of Louis Schuessler — Preparations Made for Scott County Farmers' Institute.

Bluffs, Ill., Oct. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Morris entertained forty young people Monday evening at their home south of town in honor of their daughter Nina's seventeenth birthday. A very pleasant evening was passed in music and games. The party was a surprise and was arranged by Misses Rosa Botterbusch and Pearl Rockwood.

Mrs. Margaret Tewksbury has returned from Springfield, where she has been visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Estelle Van Hyning has returned from the hospital in Jacksonville, where she has been for the past three weeks much improved in health.

Sam Carlton was a business visitor in Jacksonville Wednesday.

E. D. Beird was a Jacksonville visitor Monday.

Mrs. Uriah Sillars and family expect to leave the last of the week for their new home in Chicago.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the Scott County Annual Farmers' Institute, to be held here Friday and Saturday, Nov. 3 and 4. Excellent speakers have been secured. The Household Science Department will be held in the basement of the M. P. Church. Good speaking, demonstrating and good music will be the main features of the program. About forty dollars will be awarded in prize money and the contest is open to all.

Special prizes are to be awarded for the best fancy work by children under 12 years of age. The program and list of awards will be announced later.

B. F. Rockwood was a business visitor in Jacksonville Wednesday.

Schuessler-Vortman Nuptials.

Louis Schuessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Schuessler, and Miss Edith Vortman were united in marriage at the home of the groom at 2 p. m. Wednesday, the Rev. P. A. Sorensen officiating. The couple were attended by Miss Georgia Graham and Maurice O'Brien. Only immediate relatives were present. A 5 o'clock dinner was served at the Schuessler home, where the couple will reside.

GAS SERVICE HEARING WILL BEGIN TODAY

Company Will Have Representative Before State Commission To Tell About Pressure.

As previously announced the hearing with reference to the local gas service ordered by the state utility commission will begin before Judge O. P. Thompson this morning at 10 o'clock in the circuit court. It was after having received a number of complaints about the gas service that the commission issued a citation against the Jacksonville Railway & Light company directing that they show cause why they were not conforming with the commission's ruling made a year or two since fixing the standard for gas service.

The commission will be represented by Judge Thompson, Frank W. Sullivan, assistant attorney general, A. S. Little, gas engineer. The company's interests will be in charge of H. I. Green of Champaign, assisted by others. Supt E. H. Gray of the local company and various employes will be among the witnesses.

Mrs. Grow had been a patient at a local sanatarium for the past ten months. She is survived by her husband, two children, her parents and two brothers. Mr. Grow is a prominent Montana stockman.

Miss Margaret Day of Beardstown, who recently finished her course in training at Passavant hospital, has gone to Chicago to take the state board examination for registered nurse.

BIG TOURING CAR WRECKED ON ROAD

Four Injured When S. W. Constant Auto Turned Turtle — Occupants Pinned Under Machine.

About ten miles east of the city yesterday morning there occurred an automobile accident as a result of which one lady, Mrs. Ellie Kriegh of Springfield, lies in a serious condition, and three more, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Constant of Springfield and Douglas Pyatt of Kansas, are nursing bad bruises and other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Constant of Springfield were driving toward this city in a Westcott car accompanied by Douglas Pyatt of Parsons, Kan., and the sister of the latter, Mrs. Elie Kreigh of Springfield.

Just west of the Corrington hill, on the Springfield road, there is a bad turn in the road and the very place for an accident. As Mr. Constant was driving up the hill he encountered a place which had been highly rounded up in the middle, causing his car to veer to one side, and he gave it a quick turn to the other side when the tire of the front wheel was torn off, causing the heavy car to turn turtle, pinning all but Mr. Constant under it. Fortunately the top was up or probably all three would have been crushed to death as the car is a heavy one.

Brought to City.

J. S. Green and Charles Wyatt of this city happened along just at the time and at once proceeded to render assistance. Mr. Constant was so badly bruised and hurt that he was almost dazed for the moment and was unable to do much alone. The car was raised up and the unfortunate persons released and Mr. Green brought them to the city as soon as possible. Mrs. Kreigh was placed in Our Savior's Hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Constant were taken to the home of Mrs. Constant's brother, R. T. Cassell, on South Church street, and Mr. Pyatt went to the home of his nephew, Richard K. Pyatt.

Mr. Constant was cut about his head and face, his left leg and back were badly bruised and his right hand was skinned badly. Mrs. Constant's head was cut over her left eye, her right thumb was broken, her hand was cut, her right side was bruised. Mr. Pyatt's left side was badly bruised, the left side of his face was bruised, his right leg was hurt and his right shoulder was dislocated and replaced later.

Mrs. Kreigh's Injuries Most Serious.

Mrs. Kreigh was hurt the worst of all. Her chest was partly crushed by the car falling on it, her left eye was badly injured; she was bruised under her chin and on the left side of her neck. At present it is impossible to tell just how serious her injuries are.

The car was badly used up. The front wheel was broken, the top fenders and windshield were demolished, the body was bruised and considerably injured. Mr. Cassell went out during the day and brought it in and it will probably be repaired, as it is a high class car and cost a considerable sum of money.

That no one was killed is almost a miracle and that fact was due to the top being up and somewhat breaking the force of the fall of the car on the occupants.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Father Adams

By Ensley Moore

Member Illinois State Historical Society.

There must be some strong reason for it when a community bestows the name of "Father" on one of its older members. In truth, this distinction is seldom conferred without good cause.

The life of John Adams was a long one. It was begun in New England. It ended in Illinois. It compared with that of Paul in varied experiences, and, like that of the great Apostle, it was given to others. And the title of "Father" was well earned and applied in the case of this John Adams.

Early Days.

John Adams—who was a blood relation of the other one of the same name, who became the second President of the American Republic, and whose son, John Quincy Adams, later succeeded his father in that great office—was born Sept. 18, 1772, near the town of Canterbury, Conn.

The branch of the Adams family here referred to fled from persecution in Devonshire, England, the father being Henry Adams, who, with his eight sons, came to what is about Braintree, Mass. This was before 1640. One of Henry's sons returned to the old country. Peter Adams, son of Henry, was the ancestor of Father Adams. A younger son of Henry, named Joseph, was the progenitor of the two Presidents of the United States.

Father Adams' father, John, served in the Revolutionary War, coming home a captain. Canterbury was his residence thereafter.

He had married Mary Parker at Putney, Vt., in 1769, and brought here to his Canterbury homestead, where the subject of this sketch was the first of their ten children.

"Little John," who became a tall, wide built, splendid looking man, was a dependable boy, trusted in and equal to much more important duties than those generally entrusted to youths of tender age.

The boy might well have been brave and capable, for his teens were not entered as the Revolutionary War ended, and his growing mind had been developing on the stories of its heroism.

John entered Yale College at the age of nineteen years, and was graduated with the class of 1795, being twenty-three years of age. He was a speaker on Quarter Day, 1794, and at his commencement exercises, 1795. Singularly enough, his graduating speech was on the "Benefits of Theatrical Establishments."

Beginning Life Work.

Mr. Adams, after being graduated, began his life work under very peculiar circumstances, yet showing the nature of the coming man.

His mother had an affection of long standing which commenced in her left eye. When the son returned from college she said to him: "My son, you have been away from me for a long time. * * * I hope you will now stay with me and dress my eye so long as I live, which can not be long." Adams said: "Such an appeal could not be resisted, but how was I to earn my living? * * * I felt it my duty to forego several advantageous proposals which had been made to me. I therefore began a private school a mile and a half away from my father's house, at a salary of twenty dollars a month. * * * Often after dressing my poor mother's eye, taking breakfast, and walking or running a mile and a half, I have commenced by labors in the school house before sunrise. In this way I spent about three years, with little pecuniary benefit to myself, but with gratification to my beloved mother."

Mr. Adams may not have thought of it, but it was said: "Honor thy father and thy mother in the days of thy youth, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord, thy God, giveth thee." His days came to be four score years and ten.

Soon Mr. Adams was offered the "Old Society" school, near home, at four hundred dollars a year, at the same time being invited to become rector of Plainfield Academy at a salary of five hundred dollars a year. He said: "As usual, I referred the decision to my mother, who said: If you go to Plainfield I shall not see you often. If you go to the Old Society you can come home every evening in good weather and dress my eye.' I immediately accepted the offer of the Old Society."

Referring to these days in Mr. Adams' work, a writer says: "Mr. Adams had in large measure the true teacher's art of calling forth the best in his pupils and of exciting enthusiasm for school, studies and master."

Mr. Adams was married in the spring of 1798 to Miss Elizabeth Ripley, daughter of Gamaliel Ripley of Windham, Conn. She was descended from Governor William Bradford of Plymouth.

Mrs. Adams, mother of John, died in his arms in the fall of 1798.

Two years later he was again called to Plainfield and went with his wife and infant daughter in the spring of 1801.

Mr. Adams was called to Colchester Academy in 1803 and made great gain in reputation during his seven years there. The year after settling there he united with the church of the Rev. Salmon Cone—for whom Salmon Giddings was named—"and in this act he was accompanied by his wife, Elizabeth Adams." He was made a deacon and held office thereafter in every church to which he belonged.

Phillips Academy.

The growing schoolmaster was now to take up his greatest work. The trustees of Phillips Academy, at Andover, Mass., asked him to become principal of that noted institution, and in the spring of 1810 he took up his residence, with his family, there. This place gave him nine hundred dollars a year and a house, and he filled the position for twenty-three years full with the fine work of which he was so capable.

Lack of space forbids a full account of what the name of that Academy stood for in those days. But it was known throughout New England for its excellence.

"From the Philips family sprang the Academic system of New England as truly as did Methodism from the household of Susannah Wesley," stated the Rev. Wm. Edward Park.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was one of Mr. Adams' pupils at Phillips, and his is only one of many well known names. Eleven hundred boys were admitted to the school before Mr. Adams resigned his office of principal, at the age of sixty years. Good time, some might think, to stop active work. Principal Adams resigned November 22, 1832.

Family Life.

John and Elizabeth Adams were the parents of eleven children, ten of whom they raised. The eldest son, Gamaliel Ripley, passed from their sight in the year 1802.

"It was out of the depths of this bitter grief" that he entered into his first profound religious experience. He tells that until the death of his son he had concerned himself little with questions of religion. He had been content to rest in a formal acceptance of such fundamental truths as the existence of God and the authority of the Scriptures.

When the blow fell he considered it a direct divine chastisement and received it in a spirit of penitence and submission. His awakened conscience sought eagerly for the duty nearest at hand, and after a sharp struggle with natural diffidence he began to conduct family prayers. It was not until two years later, when a teacher in Colchester, that he felt himself justified in making an open profession of his Christion faith."

The children who grew up were: Mary, the eldest; John Ripley, who became a clergyman; Ripley Perkins; Elizabeth; William, another clergyman; Harriet Hannah; Abby; Emily, Jane, Mrs. J. H. Bancroft of Jacksonville; and Phoebe Phillips, Mrs. Wm. H. Campbell, of Jacksonville. Henry Parker tenth child, died in infancy.

Mrs. Adams, with the help of a faithful woman who became to them as one of the family, cared for her ten children and some times for as many as six more youthful pupils in the Academy. She was one of the most motherly of women and all that a helpmeet should be to her husband. She always had time for the needs of others.

Mrs. Adams died on February 23, 1829, "and all day long her house was visited by poor women, who came to show the garments which Mrs. Adams had made for them." Probably it was from this mother, as well as her father, that Mrs. Bancroft got the disposition to help others, which was so marked a feature of her long and estimable life.

John Ripley Adams, the minister, rose to good place in his profession. He was a patriot in the hot days of the Civil War, and served first as Chaplain of the Fifth Maine regiment and afterwards of the One Hundred and Twenty-first New York Volunteers.

"The story of his work as an army chaplain is one of whole-souled, patriotic service. He carried into the field the same qualities which had made his early life fruitful of good. He was always at his post. No fatigue could overcome and no danger could daunt him. He served through the whole course of the war and returned at its close rich in deeds, in the love and respect of the soldiers to whom he had ministered, but broken in health, so that he was never again able to assume an important charge. For about a year he labored humbly and contentedly as a Home Missionary in the State of Maine and died in April, 1866, from acute brain fever resulting from excitement and exposure of his army life.

Ripley Perkins Adams became a teacher, after being graduated from Yale College, and spent his life teaching in the South.

"The most widely known of John Adams' children was William, who became pastor of the Madison Square Church in New York, and later President of Union Theological Seminary of that city. From his earliest childhood he attracted attention by his beauty and lightheartedness, and this, in the minds of his earnest parents, was a cause for grave annxiety.

His conversion, a very definite experience, took place when he was about thirteen years of age and while he was a pupil in Phillips Academy. Several of his schoolmates have spoken of the unusual power of his first prayers and religious addresses."

William was graduated from Yale College and Andover Seminary. Dr. William Adams became a great man in his church, receiving high titles and ocupying its highest positions. He died August 31, 1880.

Dr. William Adams had a daughter, Mary Elizabeth, who married John Crosby Brown, and they were the parents of the Reverend William Adams Brown, now of Union Theological Seminary, New York.

"It was not the custom in the good old New England days for a man to remain long single." So John Adams felt that he ought to marry again, and he did so, August 30, 1831, after asking the permission of his family. The lady he selected was Mrs. Mabel Burritt of Troy, widow of Mr. Eli Burritt, and Mr. Adams brought her back to his home in Andover. This lady died in 1856, and thereafter Mr. Adams made his home with Mrs. Joseph H. Bancroft at the southeast corner of West State street and what is now Diamond Court.

Moving.

After sixty years of life, Dr. John Adams, as he became in 1854, by decree of Yale College, began to move his residence and he kept moving.

First it was to Elbridge, N. Y., that he went to take charge of the Academy, in September, 1833. He remained in that position for three years and then he visited Ohio, where three sisters lived, and then Jerseyville, Ill., where a relative of his second wife lived. Dr. Adams tells of it thus: "As a result of these visits I determined to move with my family to the West, but was not able to decide on the exact location. With bag and baggage we left Elbridge on the 5th of October, 1836, via Cleveland and the Ohio river, and reached Jerseyville on the first of November." The family with him was his wife and his stepson and his daughters Emily and Phoebe. No arrangements had been made for their coming, so they had to spend that winter finding lodging here and there with the neighbors. They secured a cheap two-room house in the spring and moved into it. Mr. Adams says further: "During the winter Phoebe and I taught school in the schoolhouse a few rods from our dwelling. The seats were made of rails and slabs, but in spite of all inconveniences we had a good school of more than fifty scholars. As there was no regular minister I was asked to take the services on the Sabbath, the schoolhouse, which was the only place of meeting, serving as the church." * * *

Mrs. Bancroft wrote a much fuller description of the trials and tribulations of getting to Illinois, and getting settled here.

It may be remarked here that the Misses Emily and Phoebe Adams were sent to the school at Ipswich, Mass., conducted by Miss Grant and the famous Mary Lyon, founder of Mt. Holyoke College, for a while before coming West. That was a superior advantage of those days.

Father Adams.

It is the misfortune of our West that most of the writing about it has been done by Easterners who may never have been here, or have small conception of what the country or the people are like. Old New England was made up almost altogether of one set of people, while the West had Yankees, Pennsylvania "Dutch" and Quakers, Southerners and many foreigners. The French had left their impress on the eastern part of this region. So it has been largely an unknown world to writers. Fortunately we are coming into our own in our material, political and religious history-written by those who understand it.

Much of the information in this article is derived from "The Story of John Adams—A New England Schoolmaster—by M. E. B. and H. G. B. York-Charles Scribner's Sons." The writers were a granddaughter and a great-granddaughter, who dedicated the history to "Aunt Emily," Mrs. J. H. Bancroft, of Jacksonville.

Dr. Adams is thought to have done a great work in Phillips Academy, but it is seriously to be doubted whether he did not do a greater one here in Illinois. That, too, as a man over sixty years of age. It was here that his crown of glory—better than a college degree—of "Father Adams" came to him, and here he wrought the culminating work for nearly twenty years of his life.

The writer of "O. J." knew "Father Adams" and his surroundings here, and came under the spell of his influence over the young. It is an honor and pleasure to lay this spray of Western golden rod upon the memory of the good old man.

Mr. Adams was invited to take charge of Jacksonville Female Academy in February, 1837, and hither he removed, with his daughters Emily J. and Phoebe P., who were here to be his assistants in teaching.

Phoebe Phillips Adams, who married Wm. H. Campbell here at the age of twenty-three years, died at the age of twenty-six. They had a baby girl, Emily Adams, who stayed just long enough to brighten and sadden their lives.

GOLF CHAMPIONS OF 1916

The ancient game of golf has a new king and queen. Those entitled to wear the "golden lids" of 1916 are Chick Evans and Miss Alexia Stirling, for if there have been any worthwhile honors not annexed by this pair of star golfers the records fail to show it.

Evans won both the national open and national amateur championships being the first player to hold both titles at the same time. Running a close second to this remarkable performance on the part of the young Chicagoan is the brilliant record made by Miss Stirling. The 18-year-old Atlanta girl won the women's national championship, the women's southern championship, and the Berthellyn cup. In the last-named competition she met and defeated Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, the national title holder of 1915.

Winners of the various national and sectional golf titles competed for during the season just closed are as follows:

National.

Amateur—Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., Chicago.

Open—Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., Chicago.

MOTHER'S REMEDY FOR BRUISES

Children's Bumps, Sprains and Minor Hurts Quickly Relieved by Sloan's Liniment

It is the very nature of children to hurt themselves—to come crying to mother with little fingers bruised, with heads bumped, with sprained ankles and wrists.

They are painful hurts, too. But their pain and sting can't survive the gentle use of this liniment. A single application of Sloan's Liniment and—the little fellow's bravely kept back tears give way to smiles. His hurt is relieved.

In every home where there are children a bottle of Sloan's Liniment is a necessity.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, lumbago, stiff neck, backache, chilblains, etc., can be effectively relieved with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than mussy ointments or plasters.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores. 25c, 50c and $1.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS DESTROYS DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Make It Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scuff.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producting a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

OPEN SEASON FOR CANNING BIG LEAGUE MANAGERS

Several major league managers are tagged for the ax and other big time generals will resign before another season rolls around, if Mrs. Rumor is peddling the right dope.

In view of the Chicago fans' conclusion that "Pants" Rowland can't win a pennant with a million-dollar aggregation, such as the White Sox is supposed to be, and that Joe Tinker has failed to get anywhere with the Cubs, the chances are that both pilots will be given the gate.

It is true that the Cubs have shown little of the winning stuff under Tinker, but at the same time it is considered improbable that the outfit would have done any better under another manager. Another angle to Joe's in-bad situation is the remembrance of his desertion of the National league for the Feds. 'Tis said that more than one National league magnate is still sore at Sir Joseph for his hurdling act. If this be true, the said magnates undoubtedly will see to it that the exit for Joe is marked in letters six feet high.

In Rowland's case conditions are different. He is blamed for the back-sliding of the White Sox after they had grabbed the topmost rung of the American league pennant ladder. The White Sox are credited with possessing pastimers of as high class as any to be found on the big league map. Yet the team has not arrived after being picked as the right number for the past two seasons. So it seems that Rowland's trouble lies in his failure to make a championship team out of championship timber.

In St. Louis Fielder Jones has been proclaimed the Moses to lead the Browns out of the wilderness. Unless all signs fail Fielder will direct the Browns again next year and will have under his care a full-grown, regular big yard outfit.

What's on the minds of the Cardinals' owners is a mystery. They're not talking. Perhaps Miller Hudgins may again lead the Cards and then again perhaps he may not. In some quarters it is whispered that the Cards are to be renovated and rebuilt from pilot to bat boy.

Among the other major league clubs there in the West there are no outward and visible signs at present to indicate any managerial changes in prospect at Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit or Pittsburgh.

Among the eastern clubs, it is regarded as a pretty safe bet that new managers will take charge of the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox. There is also believed to exist a remote possibility that the Braves will fight for the 1917 pennant under the guiding hand of a new pilot. Although it has been denied by all concerned, some of the wise ones still persist that President Haughton will resign and allow Manager George Stallings to tackle the job of president of the Braves. Should this dope run true, Fred Mitchell is most likely to be given the managerial berth vacated by Stallings.

Manager Bill Carrigan has repeatedly declared of late that he is through with the game and purposes in future to devote his whole time to his grocery business at Lewiston, Me. Bill avers that his outside interests have grown to such proportions that it will no longer be possible for nim to remain in baseball. Should he make good his threat to retire it will be a hard blow for the Red Sox. They might select a leader from Jack Barry, Heinie Wagner or Patsy Donovan, the Buffalo hero, but there's a heap of difference between trying out a new manager and having an old hand, like the dependable Bill, at the helm.

Owners of the New York National league club declare that McGraw will continue to manage the team, notwithstanding the big rumpus during the last Brooklyn-New York series, when McGraw is said to have accused his Giants of having a streak of yellow in them as wide as the Yellow sea. But despite the declarations of the club owners the Gotham fans have John "parcel-posted for parts unknown. The majority of them believe that McGraw will never again boss the Giants. His contract expires this year and he is said to have flattering offers to pilot other teams. Then, again, after that "bawling out" in Brooklyn, the Giants and John would be likely to get along together about as harmoniously as a fox terrier and a strange cat.

INTEREST IN LEONARD-HAMMER BOUT.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—Interest in the Benny Leonard-Ever Hammer bout has livened to a noticeable extent with the near approach of the contest and Convention Hall promises to be well filled with enthusiasts when the two lightweights come together tomorrow night for their fifteen-round set to. In the preliminary Charley Leonard, a brother of Benny, will face Harvey Thorpe, in a ten-round go.

NEW BACKFIELD MAN STRENGTHENS WESLEYAN

The addition of Ivan Tefft, the former Bradley and Dartmouth star has given Coach Muhl of the Wesleyan another high-class performer and the Green and White backfield now looks as strong as any in the conference. Tefft is being worked at halfback and will undoubtedly start the Lombard game at this position. Muhl now has four good backs in Captain Paul McFarland, Kumler, Tefft and Prather. Applegate and Lewis are available for quarter with the chances favoring the former as the starter in Saturday's game.

Kavanaugh to Play End

Bob Kavanaugh, sub end for two years has earned a regular berth and will play right end against Lombard. Kavanaugh is a gritty little fellow who always gives his school all he has got and the old determination has won him a regular place at last. Muehl has not been satisfied with hie ends in the games played to date.

Tub Rhea, guard on last year's basket ball team, may land a guard job in the coming game on the strength of his kicking, he having shown promise in this department in the practice games the last week. —Bloomington Bulletin.

HATCH FINISHES RUN IN RECORD TIME

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—A heaping dish of ice cream and some lemonade was all that Sidney Hatch of Chicago, a veteran amateur marathon runner wanted after he finished his record breaking 95 mile run from Milwaukee to Chicago today. Then, after a brisk rub down, he went to bed for a twenty-four hour sleep.

Officials of the Amateur Athletic Union declared that Hatch's performance probably was the most remarkable in history. He covered the distance—95.7 miles—in 14 hours, 50 minutes and 30 seconds, beating the former record by four hours and seven minutes.

Hatch finished the run at a dog trot at the same gait he started in Milwaukee at 8 o'clock last night. He made only three stops for a total loss of 16 minutes and finished strong, altho ten pounds lighter. He averaged a mile every 8 1-2 minutes.

Alex Monteverde of Johnstown, N. Y., who started as Hatch's pacemaker was forced to drop out before three fourths of the distance had been covered. Hatch is 33 years old and has competed as an amateur for seventeen years. He has raced in more than 45 marathon events and a hundred or more shorter races.

ROOSEVELT ASSAILS COURSE OF WILSON

SPEAKS AT LOUISVILLE, KY., IN BEHALF OF HUGHES

Asserts President's Course In Dealing with Foreign Affairs Combined Lofty Promise and Complete Failure in Performance.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 18.—Asserting that for three years there had been "no protection of our citizens abroad" Theodore Roosevelt, in an address here tonight on behalf of Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president, assailed the course of President Wilson in dealing with Mexico and his conduct of the country's foreign affairs.

"It combined lofty promise and complete failure in performance. It consisted of words which were nullified by deeds," he said in summing up his view of the president's course.

Entering Kentucky in the forenoon, Colonel Roosevelt delivered more than a dozen rear platform addresses before reaching Louisville. Crossing the Ohio at Cincinnati his course took him almost to the Tennessee line. At Paris and Cynthiana he told his audiences he was glad to be in Kentucky where if it was necessary, "the people were not too proud to fight."

On his arrival here tonight he was met at the railroad station by a large crowd which escorted him to Phoenix Hill Park, where he spoke.

Summing up President Wilson's mistakes in international affairs Col. Roosevelt said:

"This case of Belgium was the first of Mr. Wilson's international sins. It combined lofty promise and complete failure in performance. It consisted of words which were nullified by deeds. In these respects he made it the precedent which he followed ever afterwards. He followed it when he wrote his "strict accountability" note to Germany and then for a year held Germany to no accountability, either strict or loose, while it sunk ship after ship with thousands of non-combatants including hundreds of Americans; and no atonement has been made for the lives thus lost to this day. When he dealt with our property rights, he announced to England that the United States intended fearlessly to accept the "championship" of neutral rights. But, as in the case of his note to Germany, he did nothing to back up his words.

Mere Words

"They were words and nothing else He said he would hold Mexico to a 'strict responsibility' and he did not hold her to any responsibility. He said he would hold Germany to 'strict accountability,' and he did not hold her to any accountability. He said that the English blockade was illegal, ineffective, and sible; and he neither made his words good nor acted on them. He announced that he would insist on all our rights; and then he abandoned them all. He wrote a strong note to both sides; and he took no action to back up the notes to either side. We accomplished nothing with either side. We incurred resentment from both sides. In just one respect we have succeeded. We have induced the belligerents to agree on one point. They agree in their utter contempt for America, in their conviction that the American people cannot be goaded into virile action to defend the lives of their men, women and children, and in their certainty that we are actuated only by the desire to profit by the agonies of our European brothers.

President Carried a Dishrag

"Instead of speaking softly and carrying a big stick, President Wilson spoke bombastically and carried a dishrag. For these offenses against us I blame the Germans, for nothing can excuse their jeopardizing and taking the lives of men, women and children; and I do not believe that under like circumstances we would have acted in the same way, if other nations would have let us. But I blame the United States even more than I blame Germany, and far more than I blame England, for in our case there has been no splendid alloy of heroism to offset the wrongdoing. Our offenses have been those of cold, shortsighted selfishness and of a mean timidity which has invited, and has therefore been partly responsible for, the German and British offenses against us. We could have stopped them had we had any real leadership in Washington; had we shown any firmness of soul and readiness to make effort and encounter risk for high ideals. 'Kept us out of war'!

"If the Wilson administration could point to one sacrifice this nation has made for the right, to one indication of willingness to face loss on behalf of a principle, it might deserve some credit. But it deserves none. Thanks to President Wilson, we have shown ourselves too craven to stand up for our own rights, or for the rights of weaker peoples. If we had done as we ought to have done, our neutrality would have been a badge of honor and not one of shame. If we had shown emphatically that we intended to give a square deal to everyone, and to demand a square deal for and from everyone, if we had done for Mexico what under President McKinley we did for Cuba, if we had protested against the invasion of Belgium, if we had summarily stopped the murder of our men, women and children by German submarines, and had then effectively asserted the freedom of the seas against the British, we would certainly have brought about the recognition of our rights, and very possibly would have inspired sufficient confidence and respect in the belligerents to have enabled us to secure peace before this time.

Must Be Preparation

"Had we so acted, we would have proved ourselves loyal Americans in the first place, and in the next place we would have shown a veritable, instead of a sham, loyalty to humanity. We would have proved that our devotion to humanity was more than mere lip worship. But let it be understood from the beginning that never can we or any other nation take such a position unless there is both preparation in advance, and also the willingness to sacrffice something in order to compel the observance of the nation's own sovereign rights, and in addition to enable it to perform its duty to the rest of mankind."

FARM NOTES

IN TAZEWELL COUNTY.

No better evidence of the valuable work done by crop associations and farmers adviser could be given than the following letter just issued by E. T. Robbins, agricultural agent in Tazewell County. The subjects covered in the letter are of wide range and very important:

Car of Alfalfa Seed.

Last week the Farm Bureau got in a car of choice alfalfa seed which was distributed to members of the Farm Bureau, who are planning to sow alfalfa next spring or next summer. The car contained somewhat more seed than was needed in this county and the surplus was turned over to similar organizations in other counties.

Hog Records.

The cost accounting records on hogs are showing some valuable facts about economical hog production. Several members came out splendidly with hogs of March farrow which they have already sold. The lots that I saw a short time before they were sold were those of J. C. Aekerman of Tremont, L. E. Brown of Delavan, Frank Harris, of Tremont, R. B. Orndorff of Hopedale and the County Farm, Tremont. J. C. Ackerman sold his hogs on September 20th. There were 49 head of March pigs averaging 195 pounds and bringing $11.95 per 100 in Peoria. This is an average of $21.54 per head. Frank Harris sold his hogs on home weights at $10.65 which amounts to about the same figure.

One of the important events this fall in the hog business in this county was the auction sale of Robison Bros. of Morton last Thursday. They sold 35 big type Poland-China spring boars at an average of $42.50 with the top price of $87.50. These prices show how highly the work of these men is appreciated by farmers in this and adjoining counties. It is an indication of the interest which will be taken in the third annual sale of Poland-Chinas held by Jesse C. Moore of Morton next Monday. The hog breeders and the farmers who have been raising hogs for the market have been making money this year. Corn is high, but hogs are even higher. Besides the profit from feeding the grain in this way, there is a saving of soil fertility and this is a considerable item.

Percheron Buyers.

Several men from a distance have been here recently buying Percheron stallions and mares. A Nebraska buyer was here a week ago and another is here this week. It has given an opportunity to sell off the surplus very closely at a much earlier season than usual. Two or three carloads wil have gone out this fall before the business was fairly started a year ago.

Corn Days at the Schools.

Corn days at the schools were observed last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and several of the Farm Bureau members volunteered their services and gave the children instruction in corn judging. Some of these men went to as many as half a dozen schools. Those who cooperated in this work are A. C. Hellemann, G. Harrington McClellan, Clarence Wilson and C. B. Oswald. Although Arthur Hellemann is still a school boy and the youngest member of the seed corn society he was one of the leaders in this work of instruction. It is not a man's age but his spirit that counts in getting these things done.

More Rye and Barley.

Reports from fall seeding in Illinois indicate that much larger acreage has been put into winter rye than ever before. This is due partly to the high war prices, but the improved winter varieties have also given such splendid results that many have turned from oats to rye, simply because under normal conditions it promises much better returns. Yields running upwards of 40 bushels per acre with a selling price of from $1.00 to $1.25 per bushel make very satisfactory returns; besides winter rye offers some advantages over other crops in that it may be utilized to some extent for both fall and spring pasture.

Barley has also found many new friends, with the result that the acreage is on the increase. Those who handle hogs are finding barley a very good change from other feeds and it makes exceptionally fine grade meat.

This change from oats and corn to other small grain crops will be a decided advantage to most soils, for no ground relishes being run too long to one thing.—L. C. Brown, in The Farmers' Review, Chicago.

FOUNDERS' CELEBRATION AT WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Annual Observance to Be Held This Forenoon—Miss Lazelle Will Give Concert at Music Hall Tonight.

Members of the Senior class at Illinois Woman's College appeared for the first time Wednesday in caps and gowns. In accordance with custom of several years' standing Wednesday was "recognition" day at the college and special chapel exercises had been arranged in honor of the Seniors. The chapel room was suitably decorated and there was a procession at 10 o'clock. The members of the sophomore class served as an escort for the Seniors. In the procession the faculty led the way, followed by the sophomores and then by the Seniors, eighteen out of the class of nineteen appearing with the caps and gowns. Dr. Harker conducted the chapel exercises, according to the usual order, and in his brief address referred particularly to the Seniors. As is always true on such occasions, President Harker gave the young women some suggestions well worth their attention and made them feel possibly as never before the responsibility they have as the Senior class in an institution with such a large enrollment. With a freshman class of eighty and other classes in proportion it can readily be understood that the Seniors in the institution are looked up to by a large company of students.

President Harker referred to the exercises of founders' day to be observed today. The program as previously outlined will be as follows:

Organ prelude, "Largo from New World Symphony", Dvorak—Director Henry V. Stearns.
Doxology, Creed, Gloria Patria.
Scripture selections.
Hymn 229.
Prayer.
Solo, "Eye Hath Not Seen," Gaul—Mme. Florence Pierron Hartmann.
"College Organization"—Miss Grace Cowgill.
"The Alumnae Association"—Mrs. William A. Fay.
Annual address, "The Survival of the Founders"—Dr. F. A. McCarty.
College song.
Organ Postlude, "Festal March", Foote—Director Stearns.

At Music Hall.

This evening, at 8:15 o'clock in Music Hall at Illinois Woman's College, will occur the second annual voice recital by Miss Rena Lazelle, soprano. Miss Lazelle's recital last year was one of the outstanding features of the musical season and a great treat to Jacksonville's music lovers.

Since appearing here last year, Miss Lazelle has been in the east during the summer, where she sang at Atlantic City and gave recitals in New London and Quaker Hill, Conn., everywhere meeting with the most enthusiastic reception from the public.

Miss Lazelle has been engaged as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra for the current season and engagements with other orchestras pending.

The program in full is appended and is a very interesting compilation of the best musical literature for the soprano voice. Miss Lazelle will be accompanied by Mr. Carl F. L. Jesson, whose recent brilliant piano recital is fresh in the minds of all.

The recital is open to the public, no admission is charged and all are cordially invited to attend.

ST. LOUIS STRONG FOR GOOD ROADS

The conference held recently between officers of the Burlington Way Good Roads association and the St. Louis Auto Club was of a satisfactory kind and the St. Louis men entered heartily into the plan to extend the Burlington Way from St. Louis to New Orleans. Carl H. Weber, president of the association, who has returned from the meeting held in St. Louis and another in Alton, says that the sentiment for good roads has developed in a remarkable degree in St. Louis and in the southern part of Illinois.

The best evidence of the enthusiasm for good roads in St. Louis county is the passage of a great bond issue for road improvements. Not satisfied with the money thus provided, a movement is now under way for another bond issue to make still other improvements.

Edward Leonard and Walter Huff made a trip to Arenzville yesterday with the truck of Andre & Andre and loaded with goods sold by that firm.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Ward and children of Peoria were expected in the city last evening for a visit with Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Spink.

An Historical Fact

PURELY VEGETABLE S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD — USED FOR 50 YEARS SUCCESSFULLY

Even before the days of our Forefathers, extracts from the same kind of roots, herbs and barks, now used in compounding the ingredients for S. S. S., were well known and extensively used among the Indians.

Science and modern methods have only changed the Indians way of handling the materials, the essential features are still in evidence in S. S. S.—Nature's Greatest Blood Purifier—and a natural sequence of the Indians favorite medicine.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, dizzy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

BLUFFS HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE CLUB MET

Annual Banquet Was Given Tuesday at Home of Mrs. J. C. Lewis—Varied Program Given.

Bluffs, Oct. 17.—The annual banquet and reception given by the newly elected president of the Bluffs Household Science club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. J. C. Lewis Tuesday afternoon. Nineteen members and five visitors were present. The afternoon was spent in a social way. Mrs. Pearl Black and Miss Helen Rockwood each gave two musical selections. Miss Winifred Ashley, elocutionist, gave a reading from the opera Il Trovatore, the piano accompaniment being played by Mrs. E. L. Kendell.

A cake contest was the next on program in which Mrs. Harrison Cortridge won the first prize, a beautiful china plate decorated in pink. Th esecond prize was won by Mrs. H. C. Knoeppel. Dainty refreshments of pineapple cream and cake were served by the hostess. The retiring president, Mrs. H. C. Finney responded to a toast. Mrs. Anna Arundel, treasurer, gave a toast in rhyme to the retiring president, Mrs. H. C. Finney and also one to the newly elected one. The toast by Mrs. Arundel came as a surprise and was carefully worded in original rhyme. The club adjourned at 5:30 p. m. to meet Nov. 21, with Mrs. S. M. Carver.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Rolfe of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived Friday evening for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rolfe.

Miss Esta Kop is visiting relaitves in Valley this week.

Mrs. C. E. Baird of Decatur arrived Monday for a visit with Mrs. J. H. Logan.

Mrs. Alice Bohner of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived Tuesday for a visit with her cousin, B. F. Rockwood and family.

Irwin Burbank of Minneapolis, Kans., and J. C. Burbank of Bloomington, Ill., are the guests of relatives here.

BREAKS A COLD IN FEW HOURS—TRY IT!

First Dose of Pape's Cold Compound Relieves All Grippe Misery

Don't stay stuffed-up!

Quit blowing and snuffling. A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only 25 cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Don't accept a substitute.—Adv.

"CASCARETS" FOR A COLD, BAD BREATH OR SICK HEADACHE

Best for Liver and Bowels, for Biliousness, Sour Stomach and Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred tongue, bad colds, indigestion, sallow skin and miserable headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good gentle cleansing, too.—Adv.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

was a venison to her father, and to the friends she made here as long as one was left.

Emily Jane Adams, who married J. H. Bancroft, became the mother of six children, one of whom survives, Wm. Adams Bancroft, of this city.

Mrs. Bancroft entered into her rest Feb. 25, 1900, after long years of beneficent life.

The Academy building was then much smaller than it is now. The family lived in the basement and used the upper stories for school purposes. Mr. Adams' care of the school was to its great advantage, and a stream of influence for good went out from it to the prairies and further lands.

During his stay the trustees completed the original building, more room being required, and then Mr. Adams resigned "to the surprise and sorrow of all." This was in 1842.

Soon after, Mr. Adams received a letter from the American S. S. Union asking him to be their agent in the State of Illinois. He took up the work and continued in it until the year 1854. He procured a good horse and buggy and made his rounds over his charge in that way—and "good roads" did not prevail in Illinois at that time. But he rode straight into the hearts and lives of children and older people, carrying the "glad news of salvation" until he had organized three hundred and twenty-two schools, representing two thousand five hundred and nineteen teachers and sixteen thousand and eighty-two scholars. In his life as a teacher he had had under his care over four thousand pupils. All these with the Sabbath School scholars made an army corps of twenty thousand souls. Think of pointing such a "grand army" to the heights of Heaven!

FATHER ADAMS had arrived!

Father Adams was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Jacksonville and an elder in it.

He maintained his interest in children and young people throughout his life and was delighted to gather them about him. There is probably a number of those who knew of him in this way still in Jacksonville.

April 21, 1861, the old man wrote a letter to his son, Dr. William Adams, full of his anxiety for our country in that time of peril.

In his days at Andover he was associated with those organizing instrumentalities for good. "At their quiet meetings were born those noble organizations which we call the American Tract Society, the American Education Society and the whole system of Temperance Societies. There also were suggested the Monthly Concert of Prayer for Missions, and the Annual Concert of Prayer for Colleges. And it was as a fruit of their efforts that the first permanent weekly religious paper was established in America."

Speaking of Mr. Adams' later work, his biographers say: "It was he who discovered the power in that fervent young man, Stephen Paxson, who later became one of the most successful of our home missionaries. To his recommendation Mr. Paxson owed his first commission from the Sunday School Union. "People of this whole section of country know what an efficient agent Mr. Paxson was in Sunday School work.

But even his long life was drawing to a close when Father Adams celebrated his ninetieth birthday here at Mr. Bancroft's, September 28th, 1862. That day he kept open house to his friends. When dinner came no one under sixty years of age was allowed at the table.

Father Adams, on April 24th, 1863, "pasesd peacefully away, his last expression being one of assent when asked if he was happy." He had said before this: "Do not let my body be removed after death. Lay me on the prairie where the Sunday School children whom I love can visit my grave," and in that broad land he was laid.

"In the chapel of Phillips Academy there hangs a tablet, the gift Crosby Brown, of New York, which reads as follows:

In Memory of
JOHN ADAMS, LL. D.,
Born at Canterbury, Conn.,
Sept. 18, 1772.
Died at Jacksonville, Ill.,
April 24, 1863.
Principal of Phillips Academy,
Andover,
From 1810—1833.

—by keeping your teeth REALLY CLEAN.

"But," you say, "I brush my teeth regularly, yet they decay."

Yes, you brush them, but do you REALLY CLEAN them? Tonight, after brushing your teeth, examine them closely. You will likely find an accumulation of tartar on the enamel and bits of food deposit hiding in the crevices.

Decay, as well as the dangerous gum disease called Pyorrhea, usually develops only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

SENRECO, the formula of a dental specialist, keeps the teeth REALLY CLEAN. It embodies specially prepared soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Moreover, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea.

TROOPS LEAVE BORDER

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 17.—Illinois Field Hospital No. 2, and A company, Illinois Engineers, left Camp Wilson for home early tonight. The two organizations were loaded to form one train.

Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Mendelssohn in 1837 read the nineteenth chapter of the first book of Kings and was so struck by the verse "Behold the Lord passeth by" that he took it as the foundation for his oratorio "Elijah," which was begun in 1840 and in 1846 sent for translation to England, where on Aug. 18 rehearsals were begun for the first presentation of his work.

WHEAT PRICES RUN UP FIVE CENTS A BUSHEL

Excels All High Records Since as far Back as 1908—Upturn in the End Is not Well Maintained.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Wheat prices ran up excitedly almost five cents a bushel today on top of seven cents advance the day before. All high records were excelled since as far back as 1908, when for a short time Joseph Leiter seemed to have obtained control of the entire existing surplus supply. Broadly active foreign buying of future deliveries appeared to be the chief reason for today's violent upturn, which however, in the end was not well maintained. The market closed excited at the same as yesterday's finish to 3⅛c higher, with December at $1.66 to 1.66⅞ and May at $1.67⅛ to 1.67¼.

Shortage in the wheat crops of the United States and Canada was further accentuated today by increasing alarm over the Argentine drought and in regard to the premature stoppage of threshing in Canada. Estimates were current that 28 to 54 percent of the spring crop in the United States was unfit for milling, and that 61 to 81 per cent of the winter crop was already out of the hands of farmers.

Houses here with important export connections were conspicuous buyers on every slight reaction in the wheat market until the last half hour of the session when prices had overstepped the high point reached in February of last year. At this stage profit taking by holders became general, especially after it seemed evident that the foreign buying today had been confined in a large degree to futures and unlike yesterday was not directed in the main to wheat for immediate shipment.

Corn rose with wheat and touched the highest prices yet for 1916. Receipts were small and it is reported that the bulk of the stock of corn here had already been sold for shipment. Bullish Canadian advices tended to lift oats, which were also affected by the upturn in wheat and corn.

Higher quotations on hogs and grain gave strength to provisions. As in the case of wheat foreign buying was decidedly a stimulus to prices.

SPECIALTIES SCORE SUBSTANTIAL ADVANCES

Speculative Influences Again Uppermost in Broad and Active Market.

New York, Oct. 18.—Speculative influences were again uppermost in today's broad and active market, a large part of the trading being restricted to specialties of a volatile character and low-priced rails and industrials whose status remained more or less undefined. Chief among these were the paper, leather and fertilizer stocks which were unusually active at gains of 2 to 6 points. United States Industrial alcohol, led the specialties at an extreme gain of 14½ to 14¼.

Trade conditions are largely responsible for the higher levels in these issues it being generally recognized that the paper and leather industries are deriving further substantial benefits from foreign orders.

Substantial advances were registered by other inactive shares notably National Biscuit, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, Harvester, Continental Can, Pacific Telephone, Montana Power and Petroleums.

Developments bearing upon the market were mainly favorable embracing additional gold imports, advances in steel and iron products, increased demand for copper and easier rates for call loans.

Bonds dealings were heavy with an irregular tone to international issues. Total sales par value aggregated $7,670,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENCE

Stockholm, Oct. — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—In company with the nations at war, the neutral states of Scandinavia have made some effort recently to strict the liquor traffic. It may be added, however, that the regulations so far in effect cannot be classed as in any sense oppressive.

The greatest restriction enforced is in Norway where spirits may be bought only on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and then only within specified hours, which vary slightly in different sections of the country. Beer, ales and light wines, including champagne, may be bought at almost any time. The consumption of the latter has materially increased since Norway's war-time prosperity set in.

In Denmark the effort to restrict drinking has not progressed very far. It has been decreed, however, that in rural communities all drinking places must close at 11 p. m., while in Copenhagen the closing hour has been placed at 1 a. m.

Here in Sweden there is quite a strict control over bottled spirits with more or less complicated regulations as to restaurants and cafes, the saloon in the American sense being unknown. Between the hours of 12 and 3 p. m., no liquors can be sold except with food. In Gothenberg and other communities drink cannot exceed a certain percentage of the price spent for food. On Sundays no one is admitted to the cafes between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. and between 6 and 7, these hours being set aside for churchgoing. All cafes are supposed to stop the sale of liquors at midnight, but there are a great many which seem to have a dispensation as to this particular rule.

The sale of whiskey, gin and other spirits in bottles is under government regulation. Each adult wishing to buy spirits must provide himself with a book. In this all purchases are entered and no one is allowed more than one quart a week. As in other European countries a strict line is drawn between spirits on the one hand and beer and wine on the other, no limit whatever being placed on the amount of the latter to be bought at any time.

The favorite drinks with the workmen are beer and "brannvin," a distillation which looks and tastes like pure alcohol. Among the students and frequenters of the city cafes the Swedish "punsch," a sweet liquor-like preparation with a very high percentage of alcohol, altho expensive, is coming into greater popularity every day among the drinking classes. A Scotch and soda costs anywhere from 30 to 45 cents, but Sweden and her sister states of the north are exceedingly prosperous just now.

The Swedish government does not feel it is called upon to look after the welfare of foreigners so far as drink is concerned. Upon the production of a foreign passport the visitor can get any amount of spirit he desires, bottled or otherwise.

Tokio, Oct. — The gradual increase of cases of cholera in Japan has caused the government to order a rigorous quarantine in all Japanese ports and harbors. It will be especially effective against all steamers and other craft coming from Nagasaki or touching at Nagasaki where the epidemic is chiefly current. There have been 317 cases in Nagasaki with 152 deaths. There are several cases Yokahama, Kobe and Osaka and one at Omoro, near Tokio. No cases have been found in Tokio itself.

Paris, Oct. — Pilgrims to French battlefronts and battlefields after the war will probably be able to inspect trenches and field works as they actually were during hostilities. It has been proposed to select on the field of remarkable exploits sections of trenches and field works best characteristic of trench warfare, and maintain them in their present condition, thru an arrangement between the owners of the land and the government.

Seward, Alaska, Oct. — The Alaskan Engineering Commission is now employing a force of five hundred twenty five men and sixty four station men in the rejuvenation of the Alaska Northern Railway, which was purchased by the Government andt he selection of the route was announced by the president

The work consists of rebuilding bridges, elimination of high trestles with fills, improvement in the alignment and some slight reduction in the grades. There will be a small reduction in the maximum grades on the 12-mile and 45-mile summits. Many of the fills have been widened, and much ballasting has been done. Across Placer River, in front of Spencer Glacier, temporary trestles and fills have been made for a distance of over 3,000 feet, which will be replaced next year by a permanent trestle raised ten feet above the present level of the track. New shear and diversion dams are being constructed so as to control the waters of the river and to prevent washouts which have been an annual occurrence since the road was constructed.

Seventy five thousand new ties have been laid, and it is contemplated that before the work of rejuvenation is finally completed to Mile 71 over two hundred thousand ties will have been laid.

A machine shop has been built at Seward to replace the one which was burned early last year, and all repairs are now being made in that shop.

The road is now in operation to Mile 64 from Seward, and a freight train is operated over the line every Sunday and a passenger train on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. It is expected that the line will be opened and in operation to Kern Creek (Mile 71), the end of the track, this month. Kern Creek will be a distributing point for that part of the work on Turnaga in Arm, which will be done from the Seward end, as well as for points along the Arm, and considerable increase in traffic is expected as soon as the line is completed to that point.

The work is being prosecuted under the immediate supervision of R. J. Weir, engineer in charge. Mr. Weir has also charge of the new construction work along Turnagain Arm between Kern Creek and Glacier Creek, a distance of four miles. This is all expensive rock work, and it is estimated that it will cost approximately $250,000. There are now several station gangs at work on this portion of the line. It is expected that it will be completed by spring, when the work along Turuagain Arm will be prosecuted as fast as funds and material will permit.

Altogether contracts have been let at Seward to station men aggregating $150,000 on work between Seward and Glacier Creek, and in addition to that the monthly pay roll of the Alaskan Engineering Commission at Seward now amounts to between $40,000 and $50,000.

Paris, Oct. — The French "sutler" has shown his cunning by thus far resisting all efforts of the commissary department of the army to cut down the enormous profits he makes out of the soldiers in the zone of the armies. Camembert cheese, a favorite supplement with the men near the front, and which is dear enough in Paris brings from three to four times what it really ought to sell for at the repose stations. Other luxuries bring proportionate prices in spite of the itinerant bazaars organized by the commissary department. The motor peddling cars are not swift enough to get the better of the "sutier."

The commissary department is now trying another remedy. Two immense general stores have been established at important distributing points behind the front with a view to furnishing more promptly everything the soldiers need in addition to their regular rations. Each store is sufficient to supply 300,000 men and the provisions supplied from them may be more readily carried to the men than by the motor-bazar method which required more cars than could be spared.

Each of these general stores employs 3,000 men and 150 officers. Other stores will be established if it is found necessary.

Cairo, Egypt, Oct.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Altho only a short time has passed since the overthrow of the revolting suzerain of Darfur, Ali Dinar, by Anglo-Egyptian troops and the successful occupation of Darfur, cast territory some 160,000 square miles in extent, the whole province is said to have been thoroly organized and brought under a British administration providing the same code of law and justice as prevails in the rest of the Sudan. This organization, it is stated, has been due in no small part to the cooperation of the people who appear to be well content to be freed from the rule of Ali Dinar.

Hitherto obscure details of what is characterized as one of the most important events transpiring in Egypt were given to a representative of The Associated Press by a high official. His account was in substance as follows:

Ali Dinar seized the occasion of the outbreak of war between Great Britain and Turkey to renounce his allegiance to the Sudan government and subsequently declared his adhesion to the enemy. He endeavored to seduce the chiefs and stir up dissatisfaction in the Sudan and flouted repeated official warnings sent to him. Finally, at the instigation of enemy agents, he made preparations for offensive action against the loyal tribesmen. He publicly declared a "Jehad," or religious war, and announced his intention of invading Sudan territory after the rains. His action coordinated with that of the Grand Sen ussi and formed part of a general movement against Egypt and the Sudan.

The British Governor General, Sir Reginald Wingate, decided that it was essential to forestall the Sultan's designs and despatched a small force of the Egyptian Army under the command of Colonel P. V. Kelly. This force crossed the Darfur frontier on March 20 and during the months of March and April successfully occupied the well centers of Jebel El Hilla and Abiad, thus pinning the Sultan's army to Fasher and closing the main road to the east. The Anglo-Egyptian force continued to advance and on May 22 attacked and defeated the troops of Ali Dinar which occupied a strong position near Fasher. The Sultan's force, which was estimated at 3,500, rifles, comprising the flower of his army, had, at a minimum calculation, 1,200 casualties, and the majority of the leaders were killed or wounded. The British casualties were five killed and 22 wounded. Ali Dinar himself fled to Jebel Marra, accompanied by some 1,500 followers. On the approach of an aeroplane, however, a stampede was caused by the explosion of bombs and the majority of the Sultan's escort scattered and later surrendered.

The Anglo-British expedition, in which aircraft were utilized for the first time in the Sudan, involved the maintenance of a long line of communications over almost 300 miles of waterless and roadless country. The provision of supplies presented immense difficulties, as did also the transport of heavy material required for the erection of hangars for the aeroplanes. The result was remarkable for the distance traversed over an unknown country in so short a time, and more specially for the swift and decisive blow dealt.

Very shortly after the final battle large numbers of those who had supported Ali Dinar appealed to the British for the "Aman" or pardon, and these included many of the sultan's most important men. Several thousand rifles were given up and the people returned their attention to peaceful pursuits. Ali Dinar himself is still a fugitive.

Vienna, Oct.—The "radium industry" of Austria has not suffered in the slightest by reason of the war, according to Prof. Meyer, head of the Institute for Austrian Radium Production. Rather, he says, the war has proved that Austria stands at the head of the world in this respect, and will always be a big factor in the market, despite the planned comercial "war after the war."

The radium coming from Colorado and Pittsburg, says Prof, Meyer, is hardly sufficient in quanitity to suffice for scientific purposes thuout the world. The Pittsburg works have in fact produced but 10 grams since the beginning of the war, and now have ceased almost altogether. The industry at Joachimstal, Austria, however, has gone on undisturbed.

Nor has the war resulted in any appreciable raise in the cost of radium production, so that the advanced prices now quoted are purely the result of speculation.

Berlin, Oct.—There now is on record the case of a shell that rescued a man from an apparently hopeless situation.

The son of the policeman Fahrnbacher in Landshut, on the west front, stumbled in to a swamp and sank into it despite his utmost efforts. After struggling desperately for two hours he gave up all hope except that comrades might come along. Suddenly the section of country where he was was placed under French fire. A shell exploded very near him, and, instead of injuring him, tore him lose from the swamp and threw him onto solid ground. He lost consciousness for a time, and was slightly hurt on one hand, but recovered rapidly in a hospital

Berlin, Oct.—French and Belgian civilians killed behind the western front in August by artillery or aeroplanes of the Allies total 75 killed, including 31 men, 27 women, and 17 children. There were also 181 wounded. For the entire year ended August 31 the number of killed reached 1,963.

BURNING LEAVES

Bonfires of all kinds on the streets or in the alleys of Jacksonville are prohibited by ordinance, unless a license or permit is given by the mayor or city officers.

A general permit is hereby granted, up to and including Nov, 13, 1916, to burn leaves and trash in the public streets and alleys, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Do not allow fires to burn against the curb stones nor on asphalt pavement, and have all fires out by 3 p. m., so the smoke will all be gone by night.
